Joel R. Anderson

Joel was born and raised in Florence, Alabama, where he attended the University of North Alabama. He has spent most of his life involved in the family-owned business established by his late father, Clyde W. Anderson, a firm that evolved from the street corner newsstand set up in 1917 when Clyde was forced to leave school at age 14 to support his family.

Joel is active in a variety of civic and philanthropic activities. He has served his community as director and chairman of the board of Riverhill School and as a board member of the Riverhill School Foundation. He has acted as director of Shoals Chamber of Commerce; director of First National Bank; chairman and founder of the Florence Lauderdale Library Foundation; chairman of the Shoals Literacy Council; director of the YMCA, and the Florence-Lauderdale Industrial Expansion Committee. Joel has also served as founder, chairman, and director of the American Fireworks Standards Laboratory and as trustee of the Cardiovascular Institute of Philadelphia. He serves on the Nominating Committee of the University of Alabama Business Hall of Fame and is on the board of directors of a New York City residential building. He serves as trustee and president pro tem elect of the University of North Alabama board of trustees. He is currently a board member of the Alabama Bicentennial Commission. He is a major supporter of the New York City Police Athletic League, the Salvation Army, the United Way of Northwest Alabama, the Children's Museum of the Shoals, the American Heart Association, and many other community organizations.

His philanthropic, civic, and humanitarian endeavors have been recognized by the Anti-Defamation League when they honored him with their Distinguished Service Award on behalf of human rights, and by Brandeis University with its National Distinguished Community Service Award. In 2003 he was the first recipient of The 25 Year Club Frank Herrera Award, the prestigious national magazine industry award. In 2006 Joel was named Shoals Citizen of the Year. In 2016 he was inducted into the Alabama Business Hall of Fame and received the Lifetime Achievement in Innovation Award from the Economic Development Partnership of Alabama.

For many years, Joel has provided mentoring, and in many cases capital, for young entrepreneurs starting businesses in the Shoals, including a Shoals based retailer whose business grew to have stores in 14 major cities.

Joel has served as chairman and director in the Anderson Companies. Today the principal Anderson Companies include Anderson Media Corporation (which through its Anderson Merchandisers subsidiary is the country's largest distributor and merchandiser of pre-recorded music and a major distributor of books); TNT Fireworks, the country's largest importer and distributor of consumer fireworks; Anderson Press, a major publisher of children's books and associated children's product; Whitman Publishing Company, the leading publisher of books and related products for coin collectors, and Books-A-Million, the country's second largest book retailer. Together the Anderson Companies employ over 11,000 associates throughout the United States, Mexico, United Kingdom, Hong Kong and China.

The Joel R. Anderson Collection of United States Paper Money — Part II

Overview

Welcome to our second offering from the most extensive, most rarity-laden collection of paper money by design types ever formed or presented at auction. The first part, sold by us in March, is now an indelible part of numismatic history.

This collection is the result of many years of careful study, connoisseurship, and patience by Joel R. Anderson. As have the majority of those who have formed great collections of various numismatic specialties, Joel began his interest as a teenager.

As was related in the first catalog, by 1963, working with his older brother Charles, Joel was quite versed in the basics. In that year in Washington, DC, long-sealed vaults in the Treasury Building were opened. Revealed were thousands of 1,000-coin bags of Morgan and Peace silver dollars dating back to 1878, including key issues and rarities, many from the Carson City Mint. The Andersons were on hand and purchased a large quantity for face value, as did many other collectors and dealers. By March 1965 the coins had been dispersed, except for some Carson City coins held back for later sales.

Behind the scenes the Andersons continued their involvement, eventually adding a line of coin supplies to their other businesses. The Anderson Companies, based in Florence, Alabama, became important in many fields ranging from entertainment to retailing, including as the main supplier of goods to WalMart during its growth era under Sam Walton. In 2003 Whitman Publishing Company was purchased from St. Martin's Press. The rest is history. Dynamics came to the forefront, and since that time Whitman has issued over 300 different books on a variety of numismatic subjects. Among many other distinctions, Whitman is the official book supplier to members of the American Numismatic Association.

In the meantime, Joel pursued his varied interests in numismatics, forming a great collection of coins by design types and entering the realm of paper money, a field that has continued to be a specialty for a long time. He has worked with leading dealers in the field, has attended conventions, and has become deeply involved in other ways. In the publishing realm, his firm greatly supports the numismatic hobby by producing many coin reference books and by hosting the popular Whitman Coin & Collectibles Expos, held three times a year and always among the most popular of such events.

In forming his collection of large-size federal currency Joel had as an objective obtaining the finest-condition example of every major large-size federal paper money design from the first widely circulated issues of 1861 to the 1920s. In addition, within a given type, major changes of certain other features (such as Treasury seals) were collected.

By careful study and by reaching to acquire rarities when they became available, he set many price records at auction, including the first million-dollar note. In numismatics, yesterday's records have a way of becoming today's bargains over a long period of years, and since then other notes have crossed that barrier.

Each note has been kept with care over the years. PCGS Currency has been tapped to certify each piece, providing a basis that is understandable not only to long-term specialists, but to newcomers as well.

Q. David Bowers created narrative and descriptions in the first catalog and in the present one, following a framework laid out by Peter Treglia and other Stack's Bowers Galleries experts, in consultation with Joel. As in our March 2018 offering of Part I, this sale features diverse notes of various series, from popular and affordable (as many types are easily enough obtained) to incredible rarities.

Part II includes many landmarks, among which are rarest-of-the-rare Interest-Bearing Notes, classic Demand Note rarities, unprecedented runs of Silver Certificates of Deposit of 1878 and 1880, and National Gold Bank Notes, Series of 1870 – this being a short list of landmarks.

Dave, in harness with other experts on the Stack's Bowers Galleries staff, has supplied historical and other background information from his past studies for Whitman books and from his extensive research files, all in a readable manner we hope you will find to be both informative and interesting.

Prelude to Federal Paper Money

The first paper money printed for use in America was produced by the Massachusetts Bay Colony in 1690. Then followed various issues of currency by the 12 other original colonies plus the Republic of Vermont (which did not become a state until 1791). Designs and denominations changed over a period of time as old series were replaced by new.

The United Colonies and the United States of America issued Continental Currency notes from 1775 to 1778 – the first federal notes. The new nation did not have enough gold and silver coins in its treasury to redeem the bills at par, and they depreciated in value to the point at which it took $40 in such bills to buy $1 in silver or gold coins. It is little wonder that Alexander Hamilton and other Treasury officials did not propose further issues of government paper money.

This furnished the opportunity for many banks to be formed in the various states by private investors under charters provided by state legislatures. From 1782 into the mid-1860s several thousand banks issued paper money. Such bills were redeemable at face value in silver and gold coins, providing the bank was well-managed and in sound condition. There were many problems, however, including failures in times of economic distress, including from 1816 onward for several years and, most notably, the Panic of 1837, which did not begin to see serious recovery until 1843.

Further complicating matters, most notes of state-chartered banks circulated at face value only in the regions of issue. A $20 note issued in Charleston, South Carolina could be redeemed in coins there or be spent for an equivalent amount of goods or services, but a traveler taking it to New York City or Boston might find it would be refused or accepted only at a deep discount.

Chartered by Congress, the First Bank of the United States 1791 to 1811 and the Second 1816 to 1836 (mostly owned by private investors, but with government oversight), were sound throughout their existence, but were very controversial. Many bankers and legislators in the states felt they were unfair competition. The Second Bank of the United States wound down in 1836 after its 20-year charter was not renewed.

For most of the 1840s and 1850s the American economy was robust. The greatest social issue of the era was slavery, followed at a distance by temperance and women's suffrage. After the publication in 1852 of Uncle Tom's Cabin, by Harriet Beecher Stowe, calls for the abolition of slavery rose to a chorus in the North. Congress became increasingly divided on the issue with North versus South in many matters. The presidential administration of James Buchanan, a Democrat elected in November 1856, was one of the worst in history, as he tried to please both sides and satisfied neither.

The election of 1860 was the tipping point. Abraham Lincoln, America's most outspoken abolitionist, was elected president on the Republican ticket in November. On December 20 South Carolina seceded from the Union. This was followed by six other states that in early 1861 formed the Confederate States of America headquartered in Montgomery, Alabama (moved later in the year to Richmond, Virginia).

In the early months many citizens on both sides hoped that the Confederacy as a new nation would have normal trade relations with the North. The first Confederate currency was ordered from the National Bank Note Company in New York City and the first bonds from the American Bank Note Company in the same place.

Despite some expectations to the contrary, matters went from bad to worse. On April 11, 1861, Confederate forces at Fort Moultrie on the shore bombarded federal Fort Sumter in the Charleston Harbor, reducing it to ruins. The soldiers were allowed to leave under a white flag and returned safely by steamship to the North.

War was declared. President Abraham Lincoln, who had been inaugurated on March 4, called for soldiers to enlist for three months. It was thought that by then, the industrial might of the North would vanquish the agricultural South. This did not happen.

It was not until late July that the first major battle took place at Bull Run near Manassas, Virginia, not far from the federal capital in Washington. The coming contest was publicized in the newspapers as the armies advanced toward each other, and crowds gathered to witness the end of the CSA. At the outset the Union troops had the advantage, but that soon ended when the Confederates took charge. The federal soldiers retreated in confusion and disarray.

It became clear that the war was going to last far longer than anyone thought.

The Union anticipated the need for untold millions of dollars. Funds in the federal Treasury were distressingly low. This set the stage for the issuance of bonds and, important here, paper money in quantity.

The Union Treasury, challenged for funds in 1861, issued Interest-Bearing Notes and Demand Notes. The first were issued in anticipation of difficult times to come, under the Act of March 2, 1861. These paid 6% interest and sold quickly. Other notes paid varying rates of interest, as delineated in certain descriptions below.

From 1861 continuously through 1928, large-size currency was issued in denominations ranging from $1 to $10,000 and of many different designs and major variations. The Joel R. Anderson Collection is the most complete offering of major types ever to cross the auction block.

DEMAND NOTES

Finest PCGS Graded Fr. 1 $5 Demand Note

Lot 2001. Friedberg 1 (W-608). 1861 $5 Demand Note. PCGS Currency About New 50.

Offered is a worthy example of one of our nation's first "Greenbacks." This 1861 $5 Demand Note was produced by the American Bank Note Company using a patented steel plate process developed over decades of producing bank notes for state chartered banks. The statue pictured at left on the face is Freedom, by Thomas Crawford, which sits atop the United States Capitol. Founding father Alexander Hamilton is portrayed in the bottom right corner on the face.

These Demand Notes were the first widely circulated, federally issued notes since the Continental Currency notes of the late 18th century. Each example is hand signed by two Treasury officials for the register of the Treasury and treasurer of the United States. Early examples of these Demand Notes had "for the" written on the signature lines, while later versions had "for the" printed. This example is of the latter variety and was payable at the New York Treasury Office. Other offices for which Demand Notes were payable included Philadelphia, Boston, Cincinnati and St. Louis. The presently offered piece is sharply printed on creamy white paper. Three full margins are found on the face while the cut touches the design slightly on the right edge of the face printing. The intricately printed back displays vivid green inks and marvelous detail. This is the finest example graded by PCGS Currency and one of the single finest examples of this incredibly important type.

Details of Demand Notes

The Act of July 17, 1861, amended on August 5, authorized a new $250 million loan, comprising mostly Interest Bearing Notes and bonds, but also including $50 million in currency to be known as Demand Notes, a new series.

In contrast to Interest Bearing Notes, Demand Notes were made in lower denominations for widespread popular distribution. As these bore no interest they were in effect a free loan to the government. The $5 (as here), $10, and $20 values gave them wide appeal.

Plates were engraved and notes were printed by the American Bank Note Company in New York City under a contract signed on July 25, 1861. The Act of August 5, 1861, added details, including convertibility, if desired by the holder, of the Demand Notes into long-term bonds paying 6% annual interest.

The backs of Demand Notes were printed in green ink, quickly giving rise to the term greenback, although this was more widely applied to the later Legal Tender Notes issued in far greater quantities. Today in popular parlance, green is the "color of money." The Demand Notes do not bear the Treasury Seal, as there was no requirement for this in the amended legislation of August 5, 1861.

The first Demand Notes were paid out in August 1861 and used to pay government salaries in Washington. Soon thereafter, notes were given to Union soldiers, defense contractors, and others to whom the government was obligated. This form of payment was not welcomed by the recipients, who preferred "hard money" in the form of coins. At the time silver and gold coins were readily available, a situation that would continue until late December when gold coins began to be hoarded and could be purchased only at a premium, followed by the disappearance of silver coins in the late spring of 1862.

Incredible “For The” $5 Demand Note

Lot 2002. Friedberg 1a (W-607). 1861 $5 Demand Note. PCGS Currency Extremely Fine 40 PPQ.

When initially conceived in mid-1861, Demand Notes were intended to be hand signed by the register of the Treasury and treasurer of the United States. It was soon realized that such a process was impractical and other federal employees were pressed into service signing these new notes. Initially the signers would follow their signature with a handwritten “for the” but later that language was added to the printing plates. All handwritten “for the” examples are rare today and there are just ten notes known for this catalog number. The present note is among the finest known, with just a single example graded finer by PCGS Currency. That note is consecutive to this one and is graded 45 PPQ. The printed inks are exceptionally bold with deep green and black design elements. The paper remains bright and crisp with evidence of handling observed more than actual circulation.

On the Statue of Freedom

The Statue of Freedom, seen on the right edge of the face of the note, was originally named Freedom Triumphant in War and Peace and was designed and sculpted by Thomas Crawford who died in 1857 before the statue could be cast. The statue was not completed until 1862 (after it appeared on these $5 Demand Notes), and was not placed atop the Capitol dome until late 1863.

PCGS Population: 1; 1 finer.

LEGAL TENDER NOTES

Gem Rosecrans-Huston 1880 Ace

Lot 2003. Friedberg 31 (W-27). 1880 $1 Legal Tender Note. PCGS Currency Gem New 65 PPQ.

Approximately 170 of these Rosecrans-Huston signed large red spiked seal 1880 $1 Legal Tender notes are known today, far fewer than the large brown seal notes of the same series date. This broadly margined example comes from the D plate position at the bottom of the four-subject sheet. The engraved design elements are sharply impressed while bold deep blue serial numbers are seen with the aforementioned red spiked seal. Bold overprint embossing is clearly seen in the area of the seal from the back of the note. PCGS has graded just two notes at this grade level with a single PPQ designated note finer.

The Athenaeum Portrait

known as the Athenaeum Portrait, the work was originally commissioned by Martha Washington to keep for herself. The artist, impressed by his own powerful likeness of the first president, requested to keep the portrait and based his future Washington pieces upon it. The portrait first appeared on $1 Legal Tender notes from the Series of 1869. Ever since it has remained in wide use, including today on $1 notes and in portraits displayed in schools and elsewhere.

Lot 2004. Friedberg 35 (W-31). 1880 $1 Legal Tender Note. PCGS Currency Superb Gem New 67 PPQ.

This 1880 $1 Legal Tender Note features superb margins and print quality. It bears the courtesy autograph of United States Treasurer Daniel Nash Morgan who added “Treas. of US 1893-1897” below his signature, adding interest and importance to the note. A cherry red scalloped Treasury Seal is seen at left while the serial numbers are boldly printed in blue.

More on Daniel Nash Morgan

Daniel Nash Morgan was born in Newtown, Connecticut on August 18, 1844. As a young man he operated a family-owned store, later taking on a partner and operating as Morgan & Booth. In 1879 he became president of the City National Bank of Bridgeport, Connecticut. In 1893 President Grover Cleveland named him Treasurer of the United States, a position he held from June 1, 1893, to June 30, 1897. He served under both Cleveland and William McKinley. He is remembered as warmly welcoming many people who wanted souvenir autographs. After his tenure as Treasurer, Morgan failed in a bid to become governor of Connecticut in 1898. He died on May 30, 1931, 12 days after being hit by an automobile.

Lot 2005. Friedberg 37 (W-34). 1917 $1 Legal Tender Note. PCGS Currency Choice About New 58.

This Elliott-Burke signed 1917 $1 Legal Tender note prominently displays serial number M1A in red on its face along with a cherry red scalloped Treasury Seal. The engraved design elements are all sharply printed in bold inks including the vignette at left which depicts Christopher Columbus in sight of land in 1492. The engraving was done by Joseph Prosper Ourdan. Only light corner handling prevents this serial number 1 note from a full New grade designation. The grading service mentions "Small repaired edge tear at top right" on the back of the holder, otherwise not apt to be noticed. The note was previously offered as Gem Uncirculated when it last traded hands for $26,450 in a March 2005 auction.

$1 Legal Tender Notes, Series of 1917

This series continues the same basic designs as the series of 1880, with Columbus and his contingent in a vignette at the left and Gilbert Stuart's portrait of Washington at the center. The overprint elements – the Treasury Seal and the serial number in duplicate – are in red, as described above. The back has the series number in an open panel to the left and, to the right, a description of the note's value and a warning against counterfeiting.

The Series of 1917 $1 Legal Tender Notes, as well as later large-size issues made until 1928, offer an interesting area for collecting and studying plate variations and combinations, signature varieties, and other differences. These early 20th century bills are for the most part quite inexpensive for the $1 value, as here, and for other low denominations.

Four boardwalk margins surround this superbly preserved 1923 $1 Legal Tender Note that is among the finest graded examples of this one number type. The bright, creamy white paper provides the perfect canvas for darkly inked engraved design elements as well as bold red overprints. This example displays fancy serial number A7000B. Bold overprint embossing is clearly evident when viewing the back of the note. The centering and registration are ideal. Neither PCGS nor PMG has graded a finer example.

1923 $1 Legal Tender Notes

The $1 Legal Tender Notes of the Series of 1923 were a one year design type bearing only the Speelman-White signature combination. This ended decades of the previous design which in some form or another had been in use from the Series of 1869 to the Series of 1917, with only minor changes in overprint types, tint or back design. A new portrait of Washington, engraved by G.F.C. Smillie, featured the first president facing right rather than left as in the previous design. This design was also more open than previous versions, as the Treasury Department believed that large open areas on notes made detecting counterfeits easier.

The First $2 Note Issued by the Federal Government

An American Numismatic Treasure

Lot 2007. Friedberg 41b (W-303). 1862 $2 Legal Tender Note. PCGS Currency Very Good 8.

For the second time in a decade Stack's Bowers Galleries has the honor of presenting the very first $2 Legal Tender bill issued by the federal government. This Fr. 41b 1862 $2 Legal Tender Note is the serial number 1 note from Series 1 of the very first issuance of $2 Legal Tender Notes. The type is familiar with the side profile of Alexander Hamilton facing right to the left of center, large counters in the top corners and green protectors to the lower left and right. The overprints are in red with solitary 1s printed boldly in the lower left and to the upper right of center. The type 1 Treasury Seal is below the right serial number and has faded somewhat with circulation on this example. The back design is elaborate with large counters in the corners and the obligation at center encircled with tiny repeating die counters. The numismatic history of this note is traced back to at least 1971 when Abe Hepner exhibited it at the American Numismatic Association annual summer convention. The note was sold in the October 2000 R.M. Smythe auction for $137,500. It was most recently acquired by Joel Anderson from our March 2011 Baltimore Coin & Collectibles Expo auction for $86,250.

The note was clearly kept as a wallet piece for quite some time. The paper is worn but the engraved design elements all remain quite bold. There are minor edge nicks in the margins but nothing major or worthy of singling out. Some wallet staining is visible primarily from the back of the note. It is a solid note for the grade.

Few notes so important reside in private collections. The next owner of this note will possess a truly museum quality piece for which there is no equal, one of the greatest treasures in American paper money – a combination of rarity and history.

$2 Legal Tender Notes, Series of 1862

The first $2 bills are Legal Tender Notes, part of the “green-back” issues launched in 1862. The face, back, and tint plates for the $2 Series of 1862 Legal Tender Notes were engraved by the National Bank Note Company. Printing was shared by both the American and National Bank Note companies. Treasury signatures of Chittenden and Spinner were printed on the face by using a separate plate and a special ink.

On the face is the portrait of Alexander Hamilton, engraved by Joseph P. Ourdan. Two imprint versions of the American and National Bank Note companies are found. Similar to the $1 notes of this series, at the bottom center is a 1-2-3 design, with the particular denomination to be highlighted with a drop-out white background, in this case a 2 (the $3 was considered, but none were ever printed). All have a small red Treasury Seal with spiked border (applied by the National Currency Bureau in Washington). There are two patent imprints, 1860 at lower left and 1857 at center right, the latter referring to an American Bank Note Company patent for the green color, intended to deter counterfeiting.

The back is printed in green and has denomination and redemption information. The last is the so-called Second Obligation: “This note is a Legal Tender for all debts public and private, except for duties on imports and interest on the public debt, and is receivable in payment of all loans made to the United States.”

Naturally wavy paper and large, even margins are featured on this Very Choice 1874 $2 Legal Tender Note. The series of 1874 twos continued with the same face design as the Series of 1869 except for minor changes in seal type, tints and overprint. A small spiked Treasury Seal is seen at lower left with a pink scalloped ornament in the lower right corner. The serial numbers are printed in red and the engraved signatures of Allison and Spinner are along the bottom near center. The back design is new and is more ornate than the previous series, with CO-LUMBIAN BANK NOTE CO. above and WASHINGTON D.C. below. Columbian was a minor entry in the printing of federal currency. Series of 1874 $2s were issued from July 13, 1874, to September 13, 1875. This example displays sharply printed engraved details along with boldly colored overprints, which combine to provide great aesthetic appeal.

The Rosecrans-Nebecker signed 1880 $2 Legal Tender Notes are quite scarce, with fewer than 70 examples currently enumerated in the Track & Price census. The Joel R. Anderson example borders on superb quality with boldly printed inks and broad margins. Sharply printed overprints are seen with the serial numbers in deep blue and the scalloped Treasury Seal in cherry red. Strictly original paper surfaces display natural wave and wonderful fibers. Just a single example has been graded finer by PCGS Currency.

$2 Legal Tender Notes, Series of 1880

The basic motifs are continued from the preceding series. On the Series of 1880 notes a Treasury Seal (colors and sizes vary) replaces the pink scalloped ornament. Red serial numbers are continued on W-318 to W-320 then changed to blue from W-321 to W-326, as seen on W-325 here.

There are three different back imprint styles (described in detail in the Whitman Encyclopedia of U.S. Paper Money, a great source for technical information and details). Relevant here is:

Serial Number 1 $5 Legal Tender Note

Lot 2010. Friedberg 61c (W-634). 1862 $5 Legal Tender Note. PCGS Currency Very Fine 30.

Offered is a pleasing mid-grade example of this popular early $5 Legal Tender type featuring a red serial number 1 prominently at top right. Though serial numbers restarted from 1 with each new series issue for this type, serial number 1 examples remain rare and highly desirable. The census shows just a small handful of serial number 1 notes known from this catalog number, with this example being the finest of those known. The printed inks are bold and give striking detail to this early federal type. The paper is evenly circulated and mostly bright for the grade. PCGS Currency makes mention of “discoloration on back” on the back of the holder. An incredibly minor area that could be interpreted as a stain or minor substance on the back bottom left corner must be cause for the comment. This is a really impressive yet affordable note that would be a highlight of many collections.

$5 Legal Tender Notes, Series of 1862

As all $5 Demand Notes are rarities, the earliest readily collectible $5 bills are the Legal Tender Notes of the Series of 1862. These were produced in quantity. Most in the marketplace today are well circulated

The face motifs are the same as used on the $5 Demand Notes. To the left is the statue Freedom created by Thomas Crawford and placed atop the Capitol in 1863, where it remains today. To the right is a portrait of Alexander Hamilton by Archibald Robertson.

The face, back, and tint plates for the $5 Series of 1862 and 1863 Legal Tender Notes were engraved by the American Bank Note Company. The American Bank Note Company printed most, or possibly all, of the First Obligation notes (as seen here). Printing was shared by both the American and National Bank Note companies for the Second Obligation notes. The Treasury signatures of Chittenden and Spinner were printed on the face by using a separate plate and a special ink. Spinner’s dramatic signature has been discussed in numismatic print many times and is more distinctive than any other.

Bold embossing and naturally wavy paper are seen on this superbly centered 1880 $5 Legal Tender Note. This variety features bold blue serial numbers and a large red seal along with the engraved signatures of Bruce and Wyman. Around 250 examples of this catalog number are known in all conditions with the present note among the finest known. Just one other Superb Gem graded example has been offered publicly with the last price realization being $5,287.50 in a September 2013 auction.

On “Woodchopper” Notes

The design by Henry Gugler, nicknamed the “Woodchopper” note, was formally called The Pioneer and The Pioneer Family. Depicted are a frontiersman, holding the handle of an axe, probably used in cutting lumber for the rude shack that was home also to his wife, babe in arms, and loyal dog. This was evocative of the American spirit in an era in which the West was still being settled. This motif first appeared on the “Rainbow” $5 Legal Tenders of 1869 and was continued well into the 20th century – one of the longest lived “scenic” motifs among large-size currency. The portrait of Andrew Jackson on the face of the note was engraved by Alfred Sealey after a painting by Thomas Sully.

Lot 2012. Friedberg 98 (W-1276). 1875 $10 Legal Tender Note. PCGS Currency Choice New 63 PPQ.

Fewer than 40 examples of this “Series A” Allison-New signed 1875 $10 “Jackass” note are enumerated in the Track & Price census, and this note is one of the two finest examples graded by either PCGS or PMG. The paper is beautifully original with full margins, albeit a touch tight along the top. The design is sharply printed in dark inks while the red overprints show great color. Countless fibers are seen on the back left end of the note adding to the overall charm of this high end example of a rare $10 Legal Tender type. This example has a history of auction appearances dating back to a March 1993 Stack’s auction where it was offered as Choice Uncirculated. It was last offered publicly in a June 2006 auction where it was acquired for $21,850. Since that time the Choice grade has been confirmed by PCGS who assigned a numeric grade of 63 PPQ. This is the single finest Fr. 98 to be graded by PCGS and the only one to achieve a full Uncirculated grade among the 12 they have seen. PMG has graded the serial number A1 example as Gem Uncirculated 65 EPQ.

$10 Legal Tender Notes, Series of 1875

The face design is similar to that of the Series of 1869 save for changes in overprint, tints and seal type. The portrait of statesman Daniel Webster is seen on the left end. Webster was a New Hampshire native, a politician who twice served as United States Senator from Massachusetts, in addition to serving as secretary of State under presidents Harrison, Tyler, and Fillmore. The scene at right depicts Indian maiden Pocahontas being presented to an assembly of Europeans. The motif is known by the Treasury Department as Introduction of the Old World to the New. At the bottom center of the note is a perched American eagle that when turned upside down resembles the head of a donkey, leading to the popular “Jackass Note” nickname. This vignette was also used on Fractional Currency shields. The 1875 issues come with “Series A” varieties with that wording in a round overprint at top center and along the bottom edge of the design on the face, and a “no series” variety that lacks the “Series A” overprints.

Lot 2014. Friedberg 115 (W-1295). 1901 $10 Legal Tender Note. PCGS Currency Choice About New 58 PPQ. Serial Number 1.

Few notes in American currency collecting are as iconic as the Series of 1901 $10 Legal Tender Notes popularly known as “Bison Notes.” The presently offered note is one of only three serial number 1 examples of the type extant. This Lyons-Treat signed note is well margined on bright, crisp paper. Bold red overprints are seen including the striking A1 serial numbers at lower left and top right. Long recorded in the census as Choice Uncirculated and offered as such when it last appeared in a June 2005 Stack’s auction, the note is now encapsulated as Choice About New with the numeric grade of 58 PPQ by PCGS. Upon inspection some handling is seen in the left margin from the back of the note. Also from the back, a light bend can be seen in the bottom right corner, likely the grade limiting factor preventing the full New grade assignment. Serial number 1 notes were only possible for the first three signature combinations of Bison Notes issued. All three notes are known. The Fr. 114 serial number 1, the first Bison note printed, is graded Very Fine 30 PPQ by PCGS and last sold for $64,625 in 2013. The note offered here realized $74,750 in its aforementioned appearance in 2005. The Fr. 116 serial number 1 was described as Very Choice New when it realized $66,125 in a September 2004 auction.

Without a doubt this is one of the most desirable Bison Notes in existence, a “trophy note” deluxe!

Bison Notes are popular for their motifs inspired by the American West. The face of this and other Bison Notes features the portraits of legendary explorers Meriwether Lewis at left and William Clark at right. This famous duo led the Corps of Discovery Expedition westward out of Saint Louis, along the Missouri River, from 1804-1806 at the direction of President Thomas Jefferson after the 1803 Louisiana Purchase. At center on the face of the note is an American Bison standing broad-side but looking straight on at the viewer. The bison vignette is based on a sketch by Charles Knight of Pablo who lived at the National Zoological Park in Washington from 1897 to 1914. The back design features Columbia standing between two pillars and two scrolls at center.

Just four examples of this extremely rare Allison-Wyman signed 1875 $50 Legal Tender Note are known to exist. Of those, the Aubrey Bebee example resides permanently in the ANA Museum Collection while another is forever ensconced in the collection of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago. The two privately held examples, this and the serial number A20197 note, are both in the Fine grade range. The A20197 note was last sold publicly for $60,500 in a less developed market in October 1998. The presently offered note was acquired from a November 2007 Stack's auction for $276,000. Normal, evenly distributed evidence of circulation is observed on the current example, which displays still boldly inked design elements and mostly sound paper, save for a few minor edge nicks which are to be expected at this grade level. For advanced collectors hoping to secure as many Friedberg numbers as possible, this opportunity should not be missed. It has been more than 10 years since this note was last available and it will likely be many more before it comes up for sale again.

Finest Graded Fr. 169 $100 Legal Tender Note

Lot 2018. Friedberg 169 (W-3481). 1875 $100 Legal Tender Note. PCGS Currency Very Fine 35.

Only 13 pieces are known of this rare 1875 $100 Legal Tender Note, and this is an exceptional example within that limited population. The face design is much the same as seen on the earlier 1869 $100 "Rainbow" note, with Lincoln portrayed at left, a small Liberty head at bottom center, and Reconstruction at right. For the 1875 series a pink decorative overprint is featured near top center, with a pink spiked Treasury Seal near bottom right. The serial numbers are blue and followed by a Maltese cross instead of a star at the end. The engraved signatures of Allison and New flank the small Liberty head at bottom center.

The back design is more intricate than on the 1869 notes, with 100 counters in the top corners and Roman numeral Cs in the bottom corners. The Legal Tender clause is at left along with anti-counterfeiting language. The circulation is light and even with bright paper and pronounced ink remaining. Of the three examples graded by PCGS this is the finest by a wide margin, with the next closest a Fine 15. Three of the known notes are permanently impounded in institutional collections with one in the National Numismatic Collection in the Smithsonian Institution and two more in the Bebee and Liebman collections at the ANA museum.

Finest Known Fr. 193b $100 Compound Interest Treasury Note

Lot 2019. Friedberg 193b (W-3390). 1864 $100 Compound Interest Treasury Note. PCGS Currency Extremely Fine 40.

It has been nearly a dozen years since an example of this rare $100 Compound Interest Treasury Note was publicly offered. Just 13 examples of this Fr. 193b are known to exist and this serial number 41188 example is the finest by quite a margin. The design type depicts Washington standing at center with allegorical depictions of The Guardian at left and Justice at right. Large 100 protectors are seen at top left and right while the engraved signatures of Colby and Spinner are seen near bottom center. A small red spiked Treasury Seal is at top right with the issue date of Oct. 15, 1864 below. Ideal bronzing is seen on this example with a large 100 in the upper left and COMPOUND INTEREST TREASURY NOTE across the center.

The intricate back design features large 100 counters at left and right with interest information at center. Any signs of circulation are light, as this example likely spent much time tucked away in anticipation of redemption which fortunately never occurred. Most of the handling is relegated to the edges and corners. The paper is still bright and free of any distracting marks or obvious impairments. PCGS mentions "Edge Restorations" on the back of the holder. Any such restoration work is deftly executed and difficult to detect even under close scrutiny.

Of the 13 examples of this catalog number known, most are recorded as Fine or Very Fine, with one of those residing in the National Numismatic Collection at the Smithsonian Institution. Three others are listed as Poor or Good. This is the lone note graded above Very Fine, long reported as Extremely Fine and now assigned a numeric grade of 40 by PCGS. It last sold publicly in an October 2005 auction for $66,125. Collector interest in these "middle of the (Friedberg) book" notes has been much stronger in recent years and we would not be surprised to see a realization that exceeds the high end of our estimate when our auctioneer cries "Sold!" for this wonderful piece. In actuality, the early issue should be at the front of the book, but cataloging has become more sophisticated since its first edition, and changing numbers is not easy to do. When the Friedberg book was released in 1953 it revolutionized the collecting of federal currency issued from 1861 onward.

$100 Compound Interest Treasury Notes of 1864

Compound Interest Treasury Notes of the $100 denomination were issued under acts dated March 3, 1863 and June 30, 1864. These notes bore interest at the rate of 6% per annum for three years. The notes were only payable at maturity with the bearer being due a total of $119.40 upon redemption three years after the issue date. It would seem logical that most were held by banks or in investment portfolios, but as extant examples are typically well-circulated, they must have continued in general commercial channels, valued at the final redemption figure. This is a reminder that there is still much history to be learned in the field of 19th century currency.

Finest of Three Known Fr. 198a $50 Interest Bearing Notes

Lot 2020. Friedberg 198a (W-2650). 1863 $50 Interest Bearing Note. PCGS Currency Extremely Fine 40.

Just three examples of this 1863 $50 Interest Bearing Note are known to collectors, all of which are in private hands. The offered example is the finest of the three. The face displays the vignette Loyalty, a depiction of Liberty with a sword in her left hand and her right hand rested on the Bible and Constitution on the left end of the note. At right is a portrait of Alexander Hamilton. A large green ornamental overprint is seen at the center along with the words "Will pay to the bearer FIFTY DOLLARS with five percent interest." The engraved signatures of Chittenden and Spinner are centered at the bottom. The serial numbers are in red as is the spiked Treasury Seal at right. This example bears an issue date of April 11, 1864, in the upper right.

The back is intricate and fully involves all but the margins. Large 50 counters are seen to left and right while the clause and anti-counterfeiting language is found at center. The paper is bright, fully margined and displays only light circulation. The printed inks remain bold, and vibrant color is seen in the overprints. The two other known examples have both been represented as Fine in past auction appearances.

As a class, these notes of various dates and denominations are so rare today that most collectors have never seen or held an example! The same can be said for a number of other Joel A. Anderson treasures as we have noted (under Silver Certificates of Deposit for example).

The presently offered note dwarfs those in terms of condition and aesthetic appeal. This note last realized $92,000 in a February 2005 auction. We expect a realization well into the six-figures when this remarkable note crosses the block.

$50 Interest Bearing Notes, March 3, 1863, 5% Interest, 1 Year

These $50 Interest Bearing Notes were initially sold at a discount reflecting the interest that would be earned and were redeemed at face value upon maturity. These did not circulate widely hand-to-hand but were mostly purchased by banks and private investors. These and related government securities were widely advertised by Jay Cooke and others in national magazines and newspapers. Any that were kept beyond the redemption date still were worth face value, with no additional increment.

Various red overprint dates were added to signify the starting time for interest calculation. Presumably, most if not all were spaced one week apart. A total of 164,800 notes were issued. Nearly all were redeemed. The greatest collections of the past were apt to lack an example of this classic rarity.

1861 $50 Interest Bearing Note

The Only Collectible Issued Example of the Series

An Incredible Numismatic Rarity

Lot 2021. Friedberg 202a (W-2600). 1861 $50 Interest Bearing Note. PCGS Currency Very Fine 25.

This extremely important offering represents the only issued example of the entire series of 1861 Interest Bearing Notes remaining in private hands. This is one of Joel Anderson's favorite notes among his many treasures. The series was issued under an Act of Congress passed March 2nd, 1861, which provided for $10 million to be issued in the form of bonds or, if bonds could not be sold, circulating Interest Bearing Notes in denominations of no less than $50 that bore interest at a rate of 6% per annum. With Civil War looming and no market support for bonds, Interest Bearing Notes in denominations of $50, $100, $500 and $1000 were issued. They were produced by the National Bank Note Company using a process, the "cycloidal configurations." The patent for this was issued to James MacDonough on April 23rd, 1860. National used this distinctive style on many notes of state-chartered banks as well as the series of $50 to $1000 notes produced in early 1861 for the CSA. A total of 46,076 examples of the presently-offered federal $50 denomination were issued.

The $50 notes depict Justice seated with sword and scales at center. At lower left is the portrait of Andrew Jackson, engraved by Charles Burt; ironically the same portrait used on the $1000 Montgomery-issued notes of the Confederate States of America, also printed in early 1861 in New York City by the National Bank Note Company.

To the right is the portrait of Salmon Chase. To the upper left and right are counters with the denomination 50 at the center, and overlapping petals around, the cycloidal configurations (sometimes called a kaleidograph counter in Treasury records), each with "UNITED STATES / FIFTY / TREASURY." In the lower left signature panel is the signature of Treasury Clerk G. Luff whose handwritten "for the" appears before REGISTER OF THE TREASURY. United States Treasurer Francis E. Spinner, never one to turn down the opportunity to use his grand signature has signed the note in the lower right. The back is printed in blue in the cycloidal configurations format, with "Pay to Bearer" vertically at the center, below which is a space in which the holder of the note could sign. "NATIONAL BANK NOTE COMPANY" and its 1860 cycloidal configurations patent date are printed vertically to each side of the center. Related configurations were used by National on many notes issued by state-chartered banks. About 19.5 cm wide by 10 cm high.

The printed design elements of this extraordinary note are nicely printed in striking detail. The manuscript details are well penned and still bold even almost exactly 157 years after the note was issued. Restorations are mentioned by the grading service on the back of the holder. Upon close inspection they can be found primarily at the edges and along the bottom portion of the fold in the center of the note. Overall, all of the important details of the note are fully legible and the note is very appealing for the assigned grade. Most importantly the note is free of any cancellations.

This is the only collectible issued note in existence for the entire 1861 issuance of Interest Bearing Notes. One other example of the $50 denomination, a redeemed and cancelled note, resides in the Bureau of Public Debt in Washington D.C. The only other notes known for this series are found in Proof or Specimen form. In three previous auction appearances this note has traded hands for $10,000 (August 1970 Rarcoa sale), $605,000 (May 2001 CAA sale) and $368,000 (February 2005 Heritage Sale). This offering represents a great opportunity to obtain a note for which no equal is available.

Interest Bearing Notes of 1861

Bills of this authorization and denomination bore interest at the rate of 6% per annum for two years, reflecting that the credit of the Union stood higher than that of the newly formed Confederacy, which paid 8% on its notes. At the time of issue the circulating notes were sold at a discount from face value to reflect the interest to be earned for two years. At the end of this period, nearly all were redeemed. Most holders of these notes were banks; they did not circulate in general commerce. As can be said for the Montgomery Notes, printed in New York by the National Bank Note Company and issued in precisely the same denominations, the Interest Bearing federal notes can also be considered bonds. Indeed, they were widely advertised as such by Jay Cooke & Co.

No issued notes of this 1861 $100 Interest Bearing Note type are known in either private or institutional collections, leaving just three to four Proof examples of this early federal type for collectors. The offered Plate C Proof on India paper displays this National Bank Note Company produced face design nicely with sharply printed details. Liberty with capped staff is seen at left while a fierce bald eagle with shield, arrows and olive branch is found near center. The head of the eagle is turned toward the arrows as the Civil War loomed on the horizon. The border prints are in red as are the cycloidal security tints. Large kaleidograph style 100 counters are seen to each side of the eagle vignette. Six punch out cancellations are found in the signature panels. This issue of Interest Bearing Notes was produced in pursuance with an Act of Congress approved March 2, 1861. This Proof impression is free of folds or other signs of heavy handling. Only some light foxing is seen, as is common on early federal Proofs.

$100 Interest Bearing Notes, March 2, 1861, 6% Interest, 2 Years

As stated earlier, at the time of issue the notes made for circulation were sold at a discount from face value to reflect the interest that would be earned for two years. Most buyers were banks and security houses which retailed them to investors. They did not circulate in commerce, but were held until maturity, then redeemed at par. Proofs are a special case, of course, and had no monetary value at the time, and serve to illustrate the designs of many notes that are not available in signed and issued form.

This is yet another tremendous note that we at Stack's Bowers Galleries are honored to present for the first time, thanks to the great depth of the extraordinary Joel R. Anderson Collection. Just two examples of this 1863 $100 Interest Bearing Note are known to survive with the other permanently housed in the National Numismatic Collection at the Smithsonian Institution. That leaves the presently offered note as the only issued example of this design type available to collectors.

If you are a student of the history of collectible federal currency, the Albert A. Grinnell Collection sales are wonderful to contemplate. We all wish we (or our parents) were there. The Amon Carter, Jr. Collection, which included notes collected by Amon Senior is another incredible landmark. How we wish we were there! Now comes the Joel R. Anderson Collection, and you are here!

The vignette at lower left is titled Farmer and Mechanic and depicts two men seated with a shield between them. At the top center is a small vignette with an angular view of the U.S. Treasury Building. At lower right is the vignette In the Turret showing sailors with two cannons inside a period ironclad. Dual imprints of both the American Bank Note Company and the National Bank Note Company are seen at bottom center. A red spiked Treasury Seal is located at top right. The red printed serial number 8807 is at bottom left and top right. A red printed issue date of March 25, 1864 is located at bottom center with the printed signatures of Chittenden to the left and Spinner to the right. The green printed back displays large Roman numeral Cs at left and right with the Legal Tender clause and anti-counterfeiting language at center.

This is the plate note in the Friedberg and Hessler (The Comprehensive Catalog of U.S. Paper Money) references, as well as the Whitman Encyclopedia of U.S. Paper Money. It is recorded in the census as Very Fine to Extremely Fine. Many people have seen pictures of this note, but few have ever seen or held it in person. Excuse us if we are too excited about this collection—but it is one of a kind and in the future probably will never have an equal! The design elements are all sharply printed in bold inks with vibrant green and red overprints. The note is well centered with ample margins nicely framing the design. The grading service makes mention of edge restorations which are masterfully executed and difficult to detect. This note sold for $299,000 in its first and only auction appearance in February 2005. Collector appetites for ultra rarities such as this are stronger than ever and we would not be surprised to see this note sell for well past our high estimate.

$100 Interest Bearing Notes, March 3, 1863, 5% Interest, 1 Year

These notes bore interest at the rate of 5% for one year, as determined by a date overprinted in red at the lower right face. 96,800 examples of the $100 were issued and issue dates of March 25, 1864 and April 14, 1864 are known, though others were most certainly used. These were sold at a discount to reflect the interest, and redeemed at face value upon maturity. These and related notes were mainly sold to banks and investors, and nearly all were redeemed.

Offered is an incredible face and back proof pair representing this otherwise unknown 1863 $500 Interest Bearing Note type. Both face and back proofs are on India paper mounted to the same card. The face displays a bald eagle with nest at center, Liberty with anchor and flag at left and three interest coupons at right. Engraved signatures of Chittenden and Spinner are found in the signature panels while a large green protector panel flanked by Roman numeral D's is centered near bottom. These $500 Interest Bearing Notes were produced by the American Bank Note Company and bore 5% interest per annum. The back proof is ornately printed in bold green inks and features an intricate decorative device at left (reverse of the coupons) with a large Roman numeral D centered. The primary back design displays the clause and anti-counterfeiting language at center with large 500 counters on either side. Two punch cancellations are observed in each signature panel. Only $50 and $100 notes from this series are known in issued form and both are prohibitively rare. No issued $500 and $1000 notes are known to exist. We have only seen the present face proof; we know of one other example of the back proof. This is an incredible pair and a necessity for any serious collector of these "Middle of the Book" Interest Bearing Notes.

Green border and security prints are seen with "INTEREST ONE CENT PER DAY" at top center. Red serial numbers are found to the lower left and upper right of center and a red spiked Treasury Seal is at right. At left is the phrase "The Government reserves the right of paying in COIN, the interest on this Note at the rate of six per cent. per annum." Printed signatures of Colby and Spinner appear in the bottom corners. Five coupons are attached at the right border of the note. Few collectors and dealers have ever seen an Interest-Bearing Note with coupons attached. Examine and contemplate this treasure carefully, as it may be a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity!

Even circulation is observed, and brilliant color is retained in the border, security and overprints. The paper is flawless, clean and bright for the grade. The census for this catalog number is recorded at seven pieces with two residing in the Smithsonian. The present piece last traded publicly for $172,500 in a February 2005 auction.

$50 Interest Bearing Notes, July 15, 1865, 7.3% Interest, 3 Years

All notes were convertible into 20 year bonds, per a notice on the back, with interest payable in coin. The date is either June 15, 1865 or, as in the note above, July 15, 1865, and is printed above Spinner's signature. The backs of the July 15, 1865, notes have the denomination in large bronze numerals on the back of the note. All were issued with five coupons attached. Lot 2027. Friedberg 212f (W-3980). 1865 $500 Interest Bearing Note. PCGS Currency Very Fine 25.

There were 175,682 $500 Interest Bearing Notes printed for the June 15, 1865 issue, yet today just this one example remains. It is unique as a design type. A portrait of Alexander Hamilton is at center while a large mortar is in an oval frame at the lower left and George Washington is portrayed within an oval frame at the lower right. Large green Roman numeral Ds flank Hamilton's portrait and a large green security panel is at bottom center. These notes bore interest at a rate of ten cents per day or 7.3% per annum and were payable semi-annually. The printed signatures of Colby and Spinner are found in the signature spaces. A red spiked Treasury Seal is at right while blue printed serial numbers are to the lower left and upper right.

This note appears to have an untold story in its history as it seems to have originally been issued and redeemed as serial number 78116. Somehow the note escaped the Treasury after redemption and the last digit of the serial number was removed in an attempt to redeem the note again. Furthermore, the name of the payee was removed from the face as well. It appears the Treasury Department caught on to the plot and added the correct serial number in handwritten ink below the right serial number. The note was also punch cancelled multiple times in order to permanently cancel it. An inked inscription on the back of the note states "Writing has evidently been removed from the payee mark on this note SMC June 26/68." It is likely that the inscription comes from National Currency Bureau head Spencer Clark. One coupon is still attached at the right edge, its serial number also altered. A portion of the bottom left margin of the note is absent and a number of small pinholes can be seen when the note is candled. The grading service makes mention of restored splits on the back of the holder. Any restorations have been deftly executed.

Not only is this note unique, it has an interesting story to go with it. Perhaps in the National Archives there is some information about its redemption and re-redemption. We are not aware of any other note with a similar scenario.

This note was last offered publicly in a February 2005 auction where it realized $115,000. We expect that realization to be eclipsed when the final bid is called for this lot.

About the Vignette

The central vignette for which this issue is famous was resurrected from Civil War era uses on $10 Interest Bearing and Compound Interest Bearing notes, a fact not widely known as those issues are infrequently seen today. However, while the styling is very close, this is a modified vignette, with differences in the size of the Capitol rotunda and its proximity to the eagle among the easier distinctions to detect. It is this issue for which the vignette is best known, as these notes were made over a long period of time. The vignette was titled Eagle of the Capitol, and the original version was engraved by James Bannister. The updated version seen here was engraved by G.F.C. Smillie.

This exceptionally well margined and attractive note features allegorical figures Mechanics and Agriculture flanking the portrait of Washington at center. The intricate design of this $2 type is executed in striking inks. The overprint is deep blue in color and nicely embossed as seen from the back of the note. This Vernon-Treat signed note is wholly original and borders on superb quality. It should be a highlight in any collection it

This strikingly well preserved 1891 $5 Silver Certificate displays all of the qualities expected in a hand-picked Superb Gem note. The well printed design is framed by large margins on both the face and back. Bold overprint inks are seen with deep blue serial numbers featured at lower left and top right and a cherry red scalloped Treasury Seal at right. These 1891 fives display an open back design as the BEP had moved on from the more ornate "Silver Dollar Back" design of the Series of 1886. It was thought that the open design would make spotting fake notes easier and deter counterfeiters.

The portrait of Ulysses S. Grant on the 1886 and 1891 $5 Silver Certificates was engraved by Lorenzo Hatch working from a fine photographic portrait taken during or perhaps just before Grant's presidency. Hatch was something of a prodigy, having come to the attention of the BEP chief by way of a copperplate engraving he did of George Washington when Hatch was 16 (according to Gene Hessler's The Engraver's Line). He became the youngest apprentice at the Bureau shortly thereafter at the age of 18, and retired from there in December 1887 (while the Series of 1886 notes were still being released).

This pristine example of an immensely popular $5 Silver Certificate design type offers superb centering and registration. Original embossing is evident on the back, attesting to the strict originality of the paper surfaces. The design elements are sharply printed in dark inks bringing vivid detail to this iconic design. This is one of the finest examples of the type any collector is likely to encounter.

About the Chief

The famous “Indian Chief” $5 has long been one of the most widely desired federal currency types. While the central figure is likely thought by casual observers to be a generic representation, in fact it is a known entity. The man depicted is Running Antelope, a chief of the Hunkpapa Sioux. Running Antelope died in 1896 and thus would not live to see his portrait on the circulating bank notes of the United States. However, perhaps it is just as well since artistic license depicted him wearing a Pawnee headdress rather than that of the Sioux.

Offered here is an incredibly well preserved example of this popular $10 “Black Back” Robert Morris note. This plate C note features large margins and bright, creamy white paper. The plate impression is sharply executed, complemented by a boldly inked brown overprint with the round Treasury Seal at top center and large Roman numeral X below. Dark blue serial numbers are deeply embossed into the paper at bottom left and top right. The printed signatures of Bruce and Gilfillan are stacked to the lower right. The black printed back design displays SILVER in large letters within an ornamental panel at center. This is one of just two examples of the catalog number to receive a 66 PPQ grade from PCGS Currency with none graded finer. This note last sold in a June 2007 auction for a record price of $49,450. It is no less exceptional now than it was then.

Silver Certificates of Deposit, Series of 1880

Silver Certificates of Deposit, per their official name, were antecedents to Silver Certificates. These did not circulate widely but seem to have been mostly held by banks and agencies. The basic motifs of the preceding type of 1878 are continued, but now with changes in the overprint. The back remains unchanged.

This absolutely stunning 1880 $20 Decatur Note is the finest example of this three number type we have had the privilege to offer. This lightly handled note features the engraved signatures of Bruce and Wyman to the lower right of center. Commodore Stephen Decatur, a national hero in the early 19th century, is portrayed at right. A large brown Treasury Seal is at top center with large Roman numeral XX in brown below. Bold blue serial numbers are found to the lower left and top right. The grandiose black back printing features the word SILVER prominently across the center. This example displays premium paper quality with ample margins. The note has the appearance of New through the holder with any grade limiting factors difficult to detect. All of the engraved design elements are boldly inked and presented in vivid detail. This is among the most appealing examples we have ever encountered of the type and a note which should attract vigorous bidding interest.

Stephen Decatur's remarkable life was regrettably cut short at the age of 41 when he was killed in a duel with rival naval officer James Barron on March 22, 1820. His funeral in Washington D.C. was attended by more than 10,000 people, including President James Monroe, the justices of the Supreme Court and most of Congress.

This is a rare higher denomination banknote from a highly regarded and desirable series. The 1880 Silver Certificates all feature the famous black back designs which prominently display the word "Silver" across the length of the paper on the verso. This was done primarily to instill confidence in paper money among the general public. On the face, the portrait of Edward Everett is prominent at right. A large brown Treasury Seal is at top center with brown Roman numeral L below. The engraved signatures of Bruce and Wyman are stacked to the bottom right. Just 11 serial numbers are recorded in the census for this catalog number. The finest known note is the Bebee specimen, which is permanently held in the ANA museum. This note is the finest privately held example and exhibits creamy white paper, generous margins, bold inks and only light traces of circulation. It last traded publicly for $132,250 in a June 2006 auction.

Lot 2037. Friedberg 340 (W-3622). 1880 $100 Silver Certificate of Deposit. PCGS Currency Very Fine 35.

Just a dozen examples are known for this Bruce-Wyman signed 1880 $100 Silver Certificate of Deposit. This note is easily within the top half of the condition census for the catalog number. It is the second finest to be graded by PCGS, surpassed only by the Extremely Fine 45 note we sold for $352,500 in our August 2013 ANA auction.

Silver Certificates of Deposit as a class (not to overlook the extra rarity of the high $100 denomination) are one of the rarest major classes within federal currency. It is popular to class them with regular (later) Silver Certificates, but these are a distinct class. If this were more widely recognized, the demand for them, already intense, would be even stronger.

Unlike the later Silver Certificates the Silver Certificates of Deposit did not see wide general circulation. Instead, most were used in bank transfers, mining company transactions, and the like.

Offered is one of the great highlights of the Joel R. Anderson Collection and a true American numismatic treasure. This 1880 $500 Silver Certificate is one of just two examples of the catalog number in private hands and one of three collectible examples known of the type. The paper is evenly circulated and bright for the assigned grade. The printed inks are bold and great color is retained in the overprints. Full margins and sound edges are noted. A scattering of small pinholes do not diminish the overall aesthetic appeal of this monumental rarity.

These $500 notes were printed and issued in accordance with an Act of Congress passed February 28, 1878, and featured the portrait of Massachusetts senator Charles Sumner at right. Sumner is perhaps most notable for being the victim of a vicious caning at the hands of South Carolina representative Preston Brooks on the floor of the United States Senate on May 22, 1856. Brooks had taken offense to an anti-slavery speech titled "Crime Against Kansas" that Sumner had recently given. Sumner was so severely injured that he left the Senate to recuperate. He was reelected in November 1856 and in time was able to return to Washington.

The $500 Silver Certificates of 1880 feature a large brown Treasury Seal at top center with a brown 500 counter below. This catalog number has the engraved signatures of Bruce and Gilfillan stacked to the lower right of center. The black printed backs display SILVER in large, ornate letters at center.

Five examples of the Fr. 345c are known to have escaped redemption. Of those five, three are permanently impounded in the collections of the Smithsonian Institution, the American Numismatic Association, and the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago. The only other privately held Fr. 345c is recorded in the census as Fine to Very Fine and has not been publicly offered since it appeared on a Dean Oakes price list in 1975. The present example has been off of the market since October 2005 when it was sold at auction for $483,000.

A single Fr. 345d, Bruce-Wyman signed 1880 $500 Silver Certificate is privately held and is the third example of the type available to collectors. That note has been off the market since selling for $776,250 in an October 2006 auction. With more than a decade since the last opportunity to secure this type arose, interested collectors should seize this opportunity as it could easily be a generation or more before another becomes available.

$500 Silver Certificates of Deposit, Series of 1880

Like earlier Series of 1878 $500s it seems that although these 1880 $500 Silver Certificates were printed in large quantities (16,000 for Fr. 345c), most were used in import-export trade or in bank-to-bank transactions, with few ever entering general circulation.

One of Two Privately Held Examples

Lot 2041. Friedberg 346d (W-4567). 1880 $1000 Silver Certificate of Deposit. PCGS Currency Very Fine 25.

A notable highlight from the remarkable Joel R. Anderson Collection, this 1880 $1000 Silver Certificate is one of just two examples of the type residing in private hands. The printed design elements are boldly presented and strong color remains in the brown and blue overprints. The paper remains bright and creamy white, and displays moderate circulation appropriate for the grade. The grading service mentions minor edge repairs on the back of the holder which are limited in scope.

As the highest denomination of the separate class of Silver Certificates of Deposit, the presently-offered note is a true American treasure.

This rarely seen type features the portrait of William Marcy at left. Marcy, a Massachusetts native, served as a U.S. senator, governor of New York, U.S. Secretary of War and U.S. Secretary of State. As Secretary of State he negotiated the Gadsden Purchase securing southern portions of present-day Arizona and New Mexico for the United States. As on the previous $500, a large brown Treasury Seal is found at top center with a brown denomination counter below. This variety displays the printed signatures of Bruce and Wyman stacked to the bottom right of center. A large counter with 1000 overlapping Roman numeral M is at right. The black printed back design is executed in intricate detail with Roman figures and symbols appearing within the letters of CERTIFICATE at center.

Of the 8,000 Bruce-Wyman 1880 $1000s printed just five are known to survive. Three of these notes are held in institutional collections, one at the Smithsonian and the other two at the Federal Reserve Banks of Chicago and San Francisco. No Bruce-Gillfillan signed notes are known to survive. The only other privately held example of this type is the Amon Carter specimen, recorded as Very Fine. That note has never been publicly offered. The great numismatic museum cabinets of America – the National Numismatic Collection at the Smithsonian Institution, the American Numismatic Society, and the American Numismatic Association – do not have one, while each of these institutions has, for example, an 1804 silver dollar, “the King of American Coins.” What a great addition this note would be if a donor steps forward.

Due to the rarity of the $500 and $1000 denominations of this series, only two 1880 “Black Back” Silver Certificate type sets are possible to assemble. The present note last realized $667,000 when it was auctioned in October of 2005. This is an incredible rarity and an opportunity any serious collector of large size federal paper money should not let pass by.

Exceptional eye appeal is presented by this superbly well preserved 1891 $1 Treasury Note. Essentially perfect centering is found as are darkly printed engraved design elements and bold red overprint inks. As was the trend at the time, this Series of 1891 note displays a much more open back design than the ornately printed backs seen on the Treasury Notes of the Series of 1890. It was believed that these open backed notes would deter counterfeiters by making counterfeits more obvious to spot. This is one of just seven 1891 $1 Treasury Notes to be graded at this level by PCGS.

About Edwin Stanton

The portrait on this note is of Edwin Stanton, secretary of War under President Lincoln. Upon learning of an attack on Secretary of State William Seward (which happened simultaneously with the more famous attack on President Lincoln at Ford's Theater), Stanton, seemingly without regard to his personal safety, went immediately to Seward's home. There he learned of Lincoln's condition, and proceeded to where the President lay dying in a private home across from the theater. Lincoln, Vice President Andrew Johnson and Seward were all intended targets that night, though the participant assigned to Johnson failed to act. Stanton himself may have been a target, as at least one account (never confirmed) references someone seen running from hiding near his house that night. After the assassination, Stanton led the charge in ensuring that the conspirators were captured and tried for their offenses.

Deep embossing is displayed by this superbly margined, sharply printed, and crisp 1891 $2 Treasury Note. This Deuce features the portrait of Union Major General James McPherson at right and a large 2 counter at left. The paper is bright and fresh making it an ideal canvas for this popular design type. While Uncirculated examples of these 1891 deuces are far from unheard of, Superb level examples are difficult for collectors to secure.

The distinctive portrait on the face of this note is that of Union Major General James Birdseye McPherson. This series of notes was designed in celebration of the strength of the Union, undoubtedly effective at a time when many Americans remembered their own experiences of the Civil War. McPherson, killed in the July 1864 Battle of Atlanta, served as chief engineer under General U.S. Grant in 1862, and later served in the Vicksburg Campaign (1862-1863) and at the Battle of Shiloh (1864), after which he was given command of the Army of the Tennessee. His death is notable in more than one respect. The army he faced in Atlanta was led by Confederate General John Bell Hood, who had been McPherson's classmate at West Point, illustrating how close associates and even brothers found themselves opposing each other on the field of battle. Additionally he was the second highest ranking Union officer killed in the war.

Major General George H. Thomas is portrayed at center on this Superb Gem 1891 $5 Treasury Note. It is very well preserved and displays broad margins and vividly printed inks. The paper is exceptionally bright and crisp with sharp corners and flawless paper surfaces as attested to by the grading service's assigned PPQ designation. General Thomas, often called "The Rock of Chickamauga," rallied Union forces to prevent a rout by attacking Confederates commanded by Braxton Bragg at the Battle of Chickamauga, September 19, 1863. He was a native Virginian and was permanently disowned by his family for siding against his home state at the onset of the Civil War. PCGS has graded no examples of this 1891 "Open Back" $5 Treasury Note finer.

This variety bears the signature of Blanche Kelso Bruce, a remarkable figure who is little known today. He was born the son of a slave and her master in 1841, but he was fortunate in obtaining an education, eventually attending Oberlin College in Ohio. Undoubtedly recognizing the value of his education and the opportunities it presented him, he taught school and also founded a school for African-American children in Hannibal, Missouri. Eventually, he entered politics and became the second African-American elected to the United States Senate (as a Republican representing Mississippi), and the first to serve a full term. His appointment as register of the Treasury was by President James A. Garfield, in 1881.

About Philip Sheridan

Major General Philip Sheridan is portrayed on the center of the note. Sheridan was a career United States Army officer and one of the most important Union generals during the Civil War. Sheridan's cavalry vigorously pursued Lee's struggling army in 1865 and was instrumental in forcing Lee's surrender at Appomattox, effectively ending the war. Sheridan died in 1888 shortly after his promotion to General of the Army.

Boldly printed inks and bright paper are seen on this high end Gem Tillman-Morgan 1891 $20 Treasury Note. This ornately designed type is perfectly centered with generous margins featured on both the face and back. The note possesses all the eye appeal of a Superb Gem note. While every other denomination in the Treasury Note series featured an instrumental Union military or political figure from the Civil War era, the $20 displays the portrait of Chief Justice John Marshall. Marshall served briefly as U.S. secretary of state to President John Adams before becoming the 4th chief justice of the U.S. Supreme Court, a position he held for 34 years until his death in 1835. This example had been housed in a PMG 67 EPQ holder when it was last sold in a September 2006 auction.

Serial Number 7 1891 $50 Treasury Note

Finest Graded Example of the Type

Lot 2047. Friedberg 376 (W-2938). 1891 $50 Treasury Note. PCGS Currency Gem New 65 PPQ.

This 1891 $50 Treasury Note is the single finest graded example of this rare one-year design type. It is the Plate C note from the second sheet of notes printed and displays the ultra low serial number B7 followed by a decorative star in bold red in the serial number panels. A profile portrait of William Henry Seward is seen at center with a large 50 counter in an ornamental panel at the left end of the note. A red scalloped Treasury Seal is at right and the engraved signatures of Rosecrans and Nebeker are at the lower left and right. The back design is open in keeping with the theme for all of the 1891 Treasury Notes. Denominational counters are found in the corners.

This low serial number note was almost certainly held from circulation as a souvenir by a VIP. The note is well centered with ample margins. The intricate design is sharply printed in dark inks. Original plate and overprint embossing are clearly evident from the verso. This is the only example of the type to achieve a Gem grade. It was originally graded as Gem Uncirculated 65 EPQ by PMG and now resides in an equivalent PCGS Gem New 65 PPQ holder.

Of the 22 examples, six are in government collections and another permanently resides in the ANA museum, leaving 15 pieces available to collectors. The print run for this design was 80,000 examples of which only 23,500 were distributed. Treasury records reported only $1,250 worth (25 notes) are outstanding.

No 1890 $50 Treasury Notes were ever printed, thus the 1891 notes are a singular design type found in only one signature and seal combination. This type has always been considered a key to the large size federal type series and there have never been enough available to satisfy collector demand.

About William Seward

The portrait vignette of William Seward at center is quite dramatic as it displays him in full profile. Seward, prominent in Upstate New York politics and in early 1860 a hopeful for the Republican presidential denomination, is well known for his achievements as secretary of state beginning in 1861. Not all of his actions were meritorious, such as the imprisonment of Northern "Copperheads" (suspected Southern sympathizers) without giving them a chance to explain or appeal.

In 1867 he negotiated the deal to purchase the Alaska Territory from Russia, after which the transaction was satirized as Seward's Folly. He responded to those who questioned the purchase by saying, "It will take people a generation to find out." Seward also was an intended target in a separate assassination attempt which was directly related to Abraham Lincoln's murder on April 14, 1865. Seward survived after being stabbed several times. He ultimately led a long life for the time, passing away at the age of 71 in 1872 with his legacy being immortalized in various places including on this rare banknote.

Finest Known “Open Back” Example

Lot 2048. Friedberg 378 (W-3634). 1891 $100 Treasury Note. PCGS Currency Very Fine 35.

This is the finest graded 1891 $100, long regarded as Very Fine to Extremely Fine and now encapsulated as Very Fine 35 by PCGS. The paper is bright and displays just moderate circulation. Ample margins are found along with bold inks and a bright red overprint. Most known examples are in the range of Very Good to Fine. This note last traded publicly for $161,000 in an October 2005 auction.

Impressive Series of 1870 $100 Gold Proof

Lot 2049. Friedberg 1166h (W-3648). 1870 $100 Gold Certificate. PCGS Currency Very Choice New 64. Proof.

This is an incredibly rare federal proof printed on India paper and mounted on wide margin paper. The familiar portrait of Thomas Hart Benton is at left and is the same seen on the later $100 Gold Certificates of 1882 and 1922. An ornate die counter 100 is at right. Perforated serial numbers with six zeros are found at bottom left and top right. Spaces for the autographed signatures of the register of the Treasury and assistant treasurer of the U.S. are at the bottom right while a space reserved for the autographed signature of the assistant treasurer in New York is at bottom center. An example of this proof is plated on page 219 of the Hessler reference (Hessler 1223).

These Second Issue Gold Certificates were issued under an Act of March 3, 1863. The notes of this issue were uniface and had no engraved signatures. Two signatures would be signed at the right in Washington then the notes were transported to the assistant treasurer's office in New York where he would add the final signature and then the notes were issued. Notes of this issue were produced in denominations ranging from $100 to $10,000. Nearly all were redeemed and no examples of the $100 denomination are known to survive. While not unique, this proof represents one of very few opportunities to secure a representation of the type.

Lot 2051. Friedberg 1179 (W-2225). 1905 $20 Gold Certificate. PCGS Currency Gem New 65 PPQ. Serial Number 1.

This is an incredible serial number 1 1905 $20 “Technicolor” Gold Certificate with a provenance that traces all the way back to the White House. It has a unique history with the Theodore Roosevelt connection, combined with incredible rarity as the serial number 1 note. Beyond this, the numismatic fame of the “Technicolor” Note is everlasting.

It is the Fr. 1179 Lyons-Roberts signed variety (the first of two signature combinations for the type), and the very first $20 “Technicolor” printed and issued. These Series of 1905 Gold Certificates have a portrait of George Washington, engraved by Alfred Sealey, and a bright red scalloped Treasury Seal and serial numbers. The field is gold in color and includes a $20 emblem at left. The vibrant tints and overprint featured on this type explain the “Technicolor” nickname, by which these notes are so well known. The back displays the Heraldic Eagle of the Great Seal of the United States at the center and has ornately engraved borders. The entire back design, engraved by Robert Ponickau, is executed in orange-gold.

This note first appeared in Barney Bluestone’s March 1945 offering of the Albert A. Grinnell Collection, where it was partially described as: “one of the most attractive notes ever issued by our government. Bluestone, based in Syracuse, New York, entered the auction business in the 1930s and handled many rarities. His catalogs are so elusive today that the items he handled have never been carefully studied.

Grinnell was a partner in the Grinnell Brothers chain of music stores based in Detroit, each with a showroom of pianos, musical instruments, sheet music, phonographs, radios and other items. Albert was alone in his study and pursuit of federal paper money, without much if any studied competition (Col. E.H.R. Green hoarded paper but did not study it).

A worth successor to Grinnell's passion was Amon Carter, Sr., followed by his son, Amon Jr.

The “Technicolor” nickname was applied years later with it being the name of a film process developed in the 1930s.

Indeed few types in American paper money rival this in terms of aesthetic appeal. The presently offered piece offers an idyllic level of preservation with excellent centering and abundant margins. The colors are vibrant, as should be expected from the first note to roll off of the press. The all important serial number 1s are boldly inked and seen with punch through embossing. This note is a true Gem in every sense of the word, a numismatic treasure, a bona fide trophy note that will be a centerpiece in any collection it enters.

Research tells us that this very note was the presentation piece given to President Theodore Roosevelt by then Secretary of the Treasury Leslie Mortimer Shaw. While it had long been rumored that this note had been part of Roosevelt's personal holdings, that fact can be confirmed by a handwritten note which accompanied the sale of the serial number 3 example in 2005. The note reads “Mr. Shaw, Secy. of Treasury during Theodore Roosevelt's administration, gave to the president, No. 1 of this series, No. 2 to himself & No. 3 to Gilbert G. Thorne, of $20 gold notes issued at that time.”

President Roosevelt's interest in America's circulating currency is well documented. He worked closely with sculptor Augustus Saint-Gaudens on redesigns of the country's $10 and $20 gold coins which were minted from 1907 to 1933. It is no stretch to think Roosevelt may have had some influence on the creation of this stunning $20 Gold Certificate. The Roosevelt connection has gone unmentioned in all previous auction appearances of this note that we can trace.

If there is one “Trophy Note” that will be the centerpiece of the greatest private or museum collection of paper money, this is it!

Engraved signatures of Parker and Burke are seen on this beautifully crisp and original $20 Gold Certificate. Darkly printed inks and bright white paper contrast sharply and provide a striking appearance. The design is evenly centered and framed by ample margins. The back print is brilliantly displayed in vibrant orange-gold. These Gold Certificates are among the notes most susceptible to circulation, a fact that makes Gem offerings such as this all the more important. There is no fading or other distractions anywhere on the bill. For a time, beginning in 1934, possession of Gold Certificates was illegal. Collectors could not collect them and dealers could not trade them until Amon Carter Jr. convinced Congress to change the law.

With superb centering and registration, razor sharp corners and wholly original paper surfaces it is easy to see how this 1913 $50 Gold Certificate found its way to the top of the condition census. It is the single finest example to be graded by either PCGS or PMG. The engraved design elements, including the portrait of Ulysses S. Grant, are all sharply printed in striking detail. Bold gold overprints are present on the face with punch through embossing clearly evident when viewed from the back, further attesting to the strict originality of the paper. The back printing displays brilliant orange-gold color and sharp detail to the intricate design. This note last sold at auction for $63,250 in June 2009. Nearly a decade later it still remains the finest known and worthy of strong bids.

were backed by gold coins (mostly double eagles) stored by the Treasury Department, which regularly published an accounting of them. The back was printed in orange-gold ink that tended to fade. Notes like this one with bright orange color on the back, are worth more than those where the ink has faded.

By 1913, Gold Certificates had taken the place of gold coins in many transactions. They were easy to store in quantity and could be readily converted into double eagles (the most popular denomination by far at the time) or other values. So far as we can learn, Gold Certificates circulated more widely from the Rocky Mountain states to the West Coast than they did in the East or Midwest. Today, any Gold Certificate in Gem New 67 grade is a rarity. The $50 here offered is unique as such.

Lot 2054. Friedberg 1204 (W-3668). 1882 $100 Gold Certificate. PCGS Currency Extremely Fine 40.

This dazzling Gold Certificate rarity presents a type and seal combination familiar to only the most advanced U.S. currency specialists. Most collectors and museum curators have never seen one, let alone owned one!

This 1882 $100 Gold Certificate displays a large red spiked Treasury Seal at center as seen on this catalog number only. Just five examples of this variety are known. Two are impounded in the collections of the Smithsonian and the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco. The present note is the finest of the five surviving examples and had its first appearance in Barney Bluestone's March 1945 offering of the Albert A. Grinnell Collection. Much could be said about Bluestone's seven-sale offering of this collection. In brief, Part I crossed the block on November 35, 1944, and Part VII was sold on November 30, 1946. The only attendees for most of the sales were Bill Donlon, James Wade, Frederick C.C. Boyd, Richard Saffin, and Herman Crofoot, Donlon recalled. Donlon, who operated a theatre and an amusement park arcade, later became a professional currency dealer and was a close friend to Dave Bowers. The world of paper money changed dramatically with the publication Robert Friedberg's United States Paper Money book in 1953. In retrospect, most earlier activities are amazing to contemplate!

It is almost certain that the presently-offered note never saw real circulation but was folded into quarters and stashed away upon issue. The paper is bright and creamy white, displaying just four light vertical folds. Abundant margins are seen as is brilliant color in the gold overprints and red spiked Treasury Seal. The portrait of Missouri senator Thomas Hart Benton is sharply inked at left as is the bold orange-gold back print. This note was acquired by Mr. Anderson for $282,000 from a January 2014 auction. Given its combination of grade and rarity and the current market for elite level U.S. currency we would not be surprised to see that realization surpassed.

It is perhaps ironic that Missouri Senator Thomas Hart Benton (nicknamed "Old Bullion") is pictured on this $100 Gold Certificate. Benton was a strong advocate of "hard money," and he and certain other legislators insisted on receiving their salaries in gold coins. Having his image on a bank note, even a Gold Certificate, might not be the legacy he would have desired.

This $500 Gold Certificate displays one of the more powerful designs used on federal currency featuring a large portrait of President Lincoln at left. Large under-printed letters at top center spell out "GOLD" to instill confidence to those who received such notes. The ruby red small scalloped Treasury Seal complements the blue serial numbers and creates lovely contrast to the white paper. The luminous orange printed reverse design depicts our national bird in flight clutching our national colors. A large Roman numeral "D" at left states the denomination.

This is the finest PCGS graded 1922 $500 Gold Certificate. The paper displays only the slightest signs of handling. Ample margins are found along with traces of original plate embossing. The engraved design elements are darkly printed in sharp detail while the overprint inks remain boldly colored. The stirring back design is vivid orange-gold, free from the fading so often seen with this series. It is certainly a note worthy of an advanced federal type collection.

Lot 2056. Friedberg 1218d (W-4618). 1882 $1000 Gold Certificate. PCGS Currency Extremely Fine 45.

This incredible example of a prohibitively rare 1882 $1000 Gold Certificate is the finest known for this type and seal combination and one of only two such examples in private hands. This note all by itself in any other major currency sale would make that sale one for the record books. How amazing it is to have this note share the limelight with so many other treasures!

A portrait of Alexander Hamilton is seen at right. At center is a large brown spiked Treasury Seal with GOLD overprinted in gold letters. A large 1000 counter is found at left. Bold blue serial numbers are seen within gold panels at lower left and upper right. The engraved signatures of Rosecrans and Huston are along the bottom frame line. The back design is elaborate and executed in vibrant orange-gold. A bald eagle with shield is at center while a large Roman numeral M counter is seen at left.

Just four examples of this catalog number are recorded, two of which are permanently impounded in the National Numismatic Collection and in the collection of the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco. This note was the only privately held example known until another was discovered in 2013. That example was graded Very Fine 35 by PCGS and sold for $881,250 in a January 2014 auction.

The present piece is far more attractive with bright paper, strikingly bold inks and only slight hints of circulation. It was first offered as part of the Albert A. Grinnell Collection, sold by Barney Bluestone in March 1945 where it brought $1,250. It was most recently acquired for $1,092,500 in a June 2006 auction and has been off the market ever since.

As noted earlier, in retrospect the Grinnell Collection is amazing to contemplate. If offered today it would bring multiple tens of millions of dollars! A good study project for an article in Paper Money magazine would be a narrative describing the offering of this incredible cabinet.

This Series of 1882 $10,000 Gold Certificate proof is printed with bold black inks on bright India paper. At left is a portrait of Andrew Jackson, to right is 10,000 within an oval die counter. Six perforated zeros are seen at bottom left and top right. Engraved signatures of Bruce and Gilfillan are stacked to the lower right. At bottom center is an open space reserved for the autographed signature of the assistant treasurer of the U.S. in New York City, which would appear on issued notes. Circulating examples would have been issued from and payable at the assistant treasurer's office in New York and would have featured a brown Treasury Seal at center. They would have been countersigned by Thomas C. Acton. The presently offered proof is believed to be unique or nearly so. This is the only example we have offered. What is certain is that the opportunity to own a BEP printed example of any large size $10,000 note from the Series of 1882 is exceptionally rare.

Marvelous 1875 New York Ace

Lot 2059. New York, New York. $1 1875. Friedberg 384 (W-44). The Continental NB. Charter #1389. PCGS Currency Gem New 66 PPQ.

Marvelous may not adequately describe this incredible 1875 Ace from an early New York issuer. There are four boardwalk margins on both the face and back. The paper is wonderfully original with razor sharp corners and strictly original surfaces. The machine printed signatures are sharply presented in bold blue inks. Incredible details are seen in the vignette Concordia that features two maidens shaking hands near center. The back printing is brilliantly executed with the dramatic scene Landing of the Pilgrims centered with the state seal of New York at left and an eagle with shield at right. Further adding to the appeal of this note is the courtesy autograph of Treasurer A.U. Wyman, found on the face of the note. This is the single finest example of the catalog number to be graded by PCGS and one of just four $1 Nationals of all varieties they have graded at the 66 PPQ level with none finer.

About the Bank

The Continental National Bank was chartered in 1867 with a capital of $2,000,000, authorized up to $5,000,000, becoming one of the largest banks in the country. Uriel A. Murdock was the founding president and Cornelius F. Timpson was the first cashier. The bank ran into a financial squeeze in the recession of 1873, and although there was no danger of failure, its capital was reduced to $1,500,000. Business continued with various ups and downs. On May 24, 1901, it was placed in voluntary liquidation, after which it was merged into the Hanover National Bank of the City of New York, charter 1352.

Offered is a beautifully crisp Original Series "Lazy Deuce" from this Poughkeepsie bank that received its federal charter in December of 1864. Despite what the numeric grade would suggest the margins are mostly full save for a tight bottom margin that enters the design slightly on the left end. The paper is bright and creamy white. Bold penned signatures are seen as is a bright cherry red overprint. The vignette at left is creatively titled Woman holding Flag. The large decorative 2 on its side that encompasses the right two-thirds of the note accounts for the "Lazy Deuce" nickname of this iconic design type. The scene on the back is Sir Walter Raleigh, 1585 and shows Raleigh exhibiting corn from the New World while smoking tobacco from a large pipe. These were engraved and printed by the National Bank Note Company whose imprint appears on both the face and back of the note.

Lot 2061. Boston, Massachusetts. $2 1875. Friedberg 391 (W-344). The Continental NB. Charter #524. PCGS Currency Choice About New 55 PPQ.

Just light traces of handling are observed on this Series of 1875 “Lazy Deuce” issued by the Continental National Bank of Boston. A bold red overprint featuring a scalloped Treasury Seal is seen on the face along with darkly printed engraved design elements. The engraved signatures of Allison and Wyman are at center while the printed bank officers’ signatures of Smith and Ditson are found at lower left and right. Both the face and back are fully framed and display premium paper surfaces. The Continental National Bank was chartered in October of 1864 and issued nearly $2.8 million before being liquidated in January of 1899.

About the Bank

The Continental National Bank of Boston was organized in 1864 with a capital of $300,000, authorized up to $1,000,000. At the time the Treasury Department was very generous in its allotments of capital increases, as each bank had to deposit funds equal to 90% of its capital – in effect an interest-free loan to the government, which was having financial problems.

Oliver Ditson, a local entrepreneur in the music publishing business, was the first president and James Swan was the first cashier. When the subscription books for stock purchases were opened the response was so great that the capital was increased to $500,000. On November 23, 1868, it assumed the assets of the First National Bank of Dorchester, charter 156. By 1869 the capital was $1,000,000.

Under various officers and events the bank remained in business until it was placed in voluntary liquidation on January 9, 1899, after which its business was succeeded by the Colonial National Bank of Boston, charter 5163.

This Selma, Alabama charter has long provided collectors with beautiful high grade examples of Original Series $5 National Bank Notes. The presently offered note fits that description and is darkly printed on bright white paper. Well signed bank officers’ signatures are seen at the lower left and right, while a bold cherry red spiked Treasury Seal is featured right of center. The highly detailed back design features an intricate vignette Landing of Columbus based on a painting by John Vanderlyn. The grading service mentions minor mounting remnants on back (which could probably be removed by careful conservation).

The City National Bank

The City National Bank of Selma was chartered in November 1870 with an authorized capital of $300,000. The first president was James Isbell and the founding cashier was J.W. Love. In late 1872 William P. Armstrong succeeded Isbell as president. In 1888 Albert G. Parris was cashier. Later, he was president of the bank.

This crisp First Charter $5 issued by the important Chase National Bank of the City of New York is very Choice with full margins and sharp printing. It displays the vignettes Columbus in Sight of Land at left and America Presented to the Old World at right. Bold red overprint inks include the scalloped Treasury Seal at right. The bank officers' signatures are neatly penned in striking inks. The Chase National Bank received its federal charter in September of 1877 and issued more than $12.4 million in National Currency before the end of the note issuing era in 1935.

First Charter $5 Nationals

First Charter $5 National Currency notes were produced by the Continental Bank Note Company, a smaller 19th century maker of large currency (with American Bank Note Company and National Bank Note Company being the largest). The firm was founded in 1862 by W.L. Ormsby, an outspoken critic of the American and National firms. When Continental sought Treasury contracts Ormsby's name did not appear on the documents. He earned a $5,000 annual salary as the firm's primary plate engraver.

Offered is a remarkably well preserved Series of 1875 $10 from this Bucks County bank that features the low serial number 4. This note is Gem in every way from the broad margins framing the design to the beautifully original paper surfaces and vivid inks. Bold hand signed bank officers' signatures are also of note. The vignette on the left side of the face is Franklin and Electricity portraying the founding father's famous kite flying experiment. To the right is America Seizing Electricity and represents the electrical revolution sweeping the country at the time. The back features a beautifully ornate scene at center, DeSoto Discovering the Mississippi, as painted by W.H. Powell and later engraved by Frederick Girsch.

About the Bank

The Sellersville National Bank was chartered in 1882. It was a rather small institution, with paid-in capital of $75,000 per a report of September 25, 1891, at which time Charles N. Cressman was president and Charles R. Althouse was cashier. A report of September 12, 1914, gave the same capital. C.D. Fretz was president and W.F. Day cashier. At this time $74,890 of the bank's notes were in circulation. A report of July 1935 noted by that time $184,460 in large-size bills (as here) had been issued and $38,868 in small-size notes. Only $3,920 in large-size bills remained outstanding.

This Paris, Illinois bank has provided collectors with a number of high grade First Charter $10s and $20s to fill spaces in type sets and state collections. The note offered here is a bright and fully choice 1875 $20 displaying ample margins, boldly printed inks and nicely penned bank officers' signatures.

Just three 1875 $20s of all catalog numbers have been graded at this level by PCGS with four finer. For the catalog number it has been surpassed by just a single note.

About the Bank

The First National Bank of Paris, Illinois was organized in 1867 with a capital of $80,000, authorized up to $125,000. The founding president was R.B. Sutherland and the first cashier was George Hunt. By 1875 the capital was $125,000, the president was Asa J. Baber, and the cashier was William Siebert.

The bank went into receivership on May 4, 1931, a victim of the Depression. By that time the amount of paper money issued since 1885 was $2,271,260, of which about $120,000 was still outstanding, including large-size notes (as here), totaling $17,145.

This pleasing mid-grade Series of 1875 $50 should be well received in the City of Brotherly Love. The Merchants National Bank issued many notes before being liquidated in 1910. While five Series of 1875 $100s are known from this bank, the present note represents the lone $50 remaining.

Approximately 60 Series of 1875 $50s are known from all banks. The face design features Washington Crossing the Delaware as engraved by Alfred Jones at left, with Prayer for Victory by Louis Delnoce at right. The back illustrates the Embarcation of the Pilgrims, engraved by W.W. Rice, at center with the State Seal of Pennsylvania at left and a bald eagle with shield at right. These notes were printed by the American Bank Note Company.

This example is very appealing, with even circulation, boldly printed inks and neatly penned bank officers' signatures. The note is free of any distracting qualities or impairments. Original and Series of 1875 $50s are difficult to obtain from any location, and this is a type desired by many type and state specialists.

About the Bank

The new Merchants' National Bank began business on March 23, 1880, with George H. Stuart as president. After a bitter fight among leading stockholders, he had been ousted as president of the Mechanics National Bank of Philadelphia, charter 610. Charles H. Bales was the first cashier. The capital was authorized at $600,000. Stuart had many followers, and on the first day deposits totaled over $300,000. The bank met with success and issued currency for many years.

Lot 2067. San Francisco, California. $5 1870. Friedberg 1136 (W-690). The First National Gold Bank. Charter #1741. PCGS Currency Extremely Fine 40.

Offered is one of the nicest National Gold Bank Notes most collectors will ever have the opportunity to own. This $5 from the First National Gold Bank of San Francisco is among the finest third party graded examples known of the type. The face has motifs similar to Original and Series of 1875 $5 National Bank notes with Columbus in Sight of Land at left and America Presented to the Old World at right. The red overprints are in their same locations with the red spiked Treasury Seal at right. Engraved signatures of Allison and Spinner are seen at center while penned bank officers' signatures are at lower left and right.

One of the most noted features of these notes is always the gold coin vignette that graces the back. It is often well worn with heavy folds distracting from the near photographic detail of the engraving. Such is not the case here as the back vignette is uninterrupted and retains great detail. The face displays a deep impression of bold inks. Red overprints are brilliant in color. Just moderate circulation is exhibited with sound edges and paper body.

We sold a PMG Extremely Fine 40 EPQ $5 from this issue for $66,000 as part of the A.J. Vanderbilt Collection in our March 2018 Baltimore auction. We certainly expect this note to reach into the mid five-figures before the hammer falls.

National Gold Bank Notes

The National Gold Bank notes were authorized by Congress in 1870 to allow paper money to circulate in California, which was largely a gold-based economy that did not accept the usual National Bank notes except at a discount. These issues were backed by gold and traded on par with gold coins. As such, they circulated freely in California, but were not issued elsewhere. Today the few that survive tend to be well worn, generally graded Very Good to Fine in most cases, this being true for all denominations. No examples from any of the National Gold Banks have ever been graded above EF at either major service.

Lot 2068. Stockton, California. $10 1873. Friedberg 1146 (W-1324). The First National Gold Bank. Charter #2077. PCGS Currency Very Fine 35.

The $10 National Gold Bank Notes of the early 1870s borrowed heavily on the face design of Original and Series of 1875 $10 National Bank Notes as can be seen by the familiar vignettes of Franklin and Electricity at left and America Seizing the Lightning at right. Printed signatures of Allison and Spinner are near center along with hand signed bank officers' signatures along the bottom. The overprints are in red with the charter number and red spiked Treasury Seal in their typical locations. National Gold Bank Notes differed in back design as an assortment of period gold coins were portrayed at center along with the California state seal at left and an eagle with shield and interlocking US at right. Roughly 95 examples of the $10 denomination are known from all issuing banks combined. Most National Gold Bank Notes circulated heavily and the majority of survivors are well worn and with varying impairments.

This note has long been considered to be one of the finest notes for the type. It is recorded in the old Martin Gengerke census as Very Fine+. PCGS has affirmed that assertion with their assigned grade of Very Fine 35. No finer graded $10 National Gold Bank Notes can be found in the population reports of PCGS or PMG. Even circulation is witnessed along with four large margins and boldly inked design elements. Deep red color is seen in the overprint, and the bank officers' signatures are well penned and fully legible.

In its last auction appearance in July 2007 the note realized $82,800. We would not be surprised with a realization that approaches or exceeds that number now.

About the Bank

The First National Gold Bank of Stockton was organized in January 1873 and opened for business on April 1. The founding president was Frank Stewart and the first cashier was Henry H. Hewlett. The capital was $100,000 with authorization to go to $200,000 if desired. The bank was profitable from the start and paid 1% per month in dividends to its stockholders. The capital was further increased to $300,000, then in 1875 to $400,000.

In 1879 the bank, then with a capital of $300,000, was liquidated and its business transferred to the new First National Bank of Stockton, charter 2412, with the same capital and management.

Lot 2069. Petaluma, California. $20 1875. Friedberg 1157 (W-2062). The First National Gold Bank. Charter #2193. PCGS Currency Extremely Fine 45.

Offered is one of the greatest National Gold Bank Notes we have ever had the honor of presenting at auction. This 1875 $20 from the National Gold Bank of Petaluma is the finest example of the type graded by either PCGS or PMG. Furthermore, it is one of the finest known examples from the entire series of National Gold Bank Notes.

The face design is very similar to that of Original and Series of 1875 $20 National Bank notes with the Battle of Lexington, 1775 vignette at left and Loyalty at right. The back displays an assortment of period U.S. gold coinage at center including an 1871 double eagle.

While most National Gold Bank Notes show extensive wear, this note is an exception, as just faint traces of circulation are observed. The darkly printed design is perfectly framed with full margins. The overprints on the face are bold red and the bank officers' signatures are both neatly penned in sharp inks.

Roughly 60 $20 National Gold Bank Notes are known from all banks combined. Of those approximately half come from the National Gold Bank of San Francisco. The present note is one of just two $20s known from the National Gold Bank of Petaluma. The other is graded Very Good and realized $43,475 in an April 2017 auction. The presently offered note is far superior and was last sold at auction for $230,000 in June 2007. The market for great rarities is much stronger now and we expect the price for this note to reach well into the six-figure range.

About the Bank

The First National Gold Bank of Petaluma was chartered on October 12, 1874, with an authorized capital of $200,000. I.G. Wickersham was the founding president and H.H. Adwater was the first cashier. It transitioned to become the The First National Bank of Petaluma on April 17, 1884. It was placed in voluntary liquidation on September 25, 1894, with the capital of $200,000. Lot 2070. San Francisco, California. $50 1870. Friedberg 1160 (W-2825). The First National Gold Bank. Charter #1741. PCGS Currency Very Fine 35.

An incredibly rare offering from the Joel R. Anderson Collection, this 1870 $50 National Gold Bank Note is one of just six such notes known for the type. Of those six, four are Original Series notes from the National Gold Bank at San Francisco (as seen here), one is a Series of 1875 note from the same bank while the sixth note is an Original Series from the Farmers National Gold Bank of San Jose. A seventh note was known, a laminated example traced to the King Farouk collection, but it met an unfortunate fate during attempted restoration and is for all intents and purposes no longer in existence.

The type is quite similar to Original and Series of 1875 $50 National Bank notes on the face with Washington Crossing the Delaware at left and Prayer for Victory at right. The most notable difference in the two types is seen on the back where a group of assorted gold coins of various types and dates are found. National Gold Bank Notes of the $50 denomination were issued by California banks in Oakland, Petaluma, Sacramento, San Francisco, San Jose and Santa Barbara. All examples display the printed signatures of Allison and Spinner with pen signed bank officers' signatures.

This example displays moderate circulation with darkly inked engraved design elements and a bold red overprint. The paper is quite sound for the issue and comes well cut with full margins save for at the top right. There are no distracting marks or major impairments. The grading service makes mention on the back of the holder of small repaired edge tears, which are well concealed and difficult to detect. The note was last offered in an April 2013 auction where it sold for $340,750.

National Gold Bank Notes

By 1870, no National Banks had been established in California, as their bills would not have been useful in commerce, for the 1850 State Constitution forbid the use of paper money. To remedy this, Congress took the unusual step of passing the Act of July 12, 1870 which provided for the establishment of institutions known as National Gold Banks. These National Gold Banks would be allowed to issue notes "redeemable at par in gold coins." Nine National Gold Banks were established in California, issuing notes in denominations from $5 to $500. These notes were instantly accepted in Western commerce and were equal at face value to gold coins in circulation, whereas Legal Tender Notes and other federal currency, if accepted at all in California, saw a deep discount in relation to gold coins.

Chartered on November 30, 1870, the First National Gold Bank converted to become the First National Bank of San Francisco on February 25, 1884. By that time Legal Tender Notes and other federal currency were widely used in California, which had not been the case when the bank was first chartered.

Stack's Bowers may have direct or indirect interests in any of the lots in the auction and may collect commissions. THE TWO PRECEDING SENTENCES SHALL BE DEEMED A PART OF THE DESCRIPTION OF ALL LOTS CONTAINED IN THE CATALOG. Where the Consignor has repurchased a lot and the lot is either returned to the Consignor or otherwise dealt with or disposed of in accordance with the Consignor's direction, or pursuant to contractual agreement, Stack's Bowers reserves the right to so note in the prices realized or to omit a price from the prices realized. Stack's Bowers and its affiliates may bid for their own account at any auction. Stack's Bowers and its affiliates may have information about any lot that is not known publicly, and Stack's Bowers and its affiliates reserves the right to use such information, in a manner determined solely by them and for their benefit, without disclosing such information in the catalog, catalog description or at the auction. Bidder acknowledges and agrees that Stack's Bowers and its affiliates are not required to pay a Buyer's Premium, or other charges that other Bidders may be required to pay and may have access to information concerning the lots that is not otherwise available to the public. Any claimed conflict of interest or claimed competitive advantage resulting therefrom is expressly waived by all participants in the Auction Sale. Lots may carry a reserve ("Reserve"). A Reserve is a price or bid below which the Auctioneer will not sell an item or will repurchase on behalf of the Consignor or for Stack's Bowers. Reserves may be confidential and not disclosed. The Buyer is the Bidder who makes the highest bid accepted by the Auctioneer, and includes the principal of any Bidder acting as an agent.

2. Descriptions and Grading. Bidder acknowledges that grading of most coins and currency in this Auction has been determined by independent grading services, and those that are not may be graded by Stack's Bowers. Grading of rare coins and currency is subjective and, even though grading has a material effect on the value of the coins and currency, grading may differ among independent grading services and among numismatists. Stack's Bowers is not responsible for the grades assigned by independent grading services, and makes no warranty or representation regarding such grades. Bidder further acknowledges and agrees that grades assigned by Stack's Bowers and lot descriptions are based solely upon an examination of the coins and currency and are intended to identify coins and currency and note any perceived characteristics. However, coin grading and descriptions are subjective. Stack's Bowers does not warrant the accuracy of such grading or descriptions, nor do they in any way form the basis for any bid. All photographs in this catalog are of the actual items being sold but may not be the actual size or to scale.

3. The Bidding Process. The Auctioneer shall have the right to open or accept the bidding on any lot by placing a bid on behalf of the Consignor or his or her agent; a Bidder by mail, telephone, Internet or telefax; or any other participant in the Auction Sale. Bids must be for an entire lot and each lot constitutes a separate sale. All bids must be on increment as established by the Auctioneer, or half increment (a cut bid). Non-conforming bids will be rounded down to the nearest full increment and this rounded bid will be the bidder's high bid. No lot will be broken up unless otherwise permitted by the Auctioneer. Lots will be sold in their numbered sequence unless Auctioneer directs otherwise. All material shall be sold in separate lots to the highest Bidder as determined by the Auctioneer. Auctioneer shall have the right in its sole and absolute discretion to accept or decline any bid, establish bid increments, challenge any bid or bidding increment, to reduce any mail bid received, adjudicate all bidding disputes, to exclude any bidder and to determine the prevailing bid. The Auctioneer shall have the right, but not the obligation, to rescind the acceptance of any bid and place the lot(s) for Auction Sale again. Auctioneer's decision on all bidding disputes shall be binding and final. For the mail and Internet Bidder's protection, no "unlimited" or "buy" bids will be accepted. When identical bids are received for a lot, preference is given to the first bid received as determined by the Auctioneer. A mail bid will take precedence over an identical floor bid; a Floor Bidder, Telephone Bidder and Live Internet Bidder must bid higher than the highest mail bid to be awarded any lot. Cut bids are only accepted on bids greater than $500 and each bidder may only execute one cut bid per lot. Bids will not be accepted from persons under eighteen (18) years of age without a parent's written consent which acknowledges the Terms of Sale herein and agrees to be bound thereby on behalf of the underage Bidder. The auction sale is complete when the Auctioneer so announces by the fall of the hammer or in any other customary manner.

THIS IS NOT AN APPROVAL SALE. Bidders who physically attend the Auction sale, either personally or through an agent ("Floor Bidders") should carefully examine all lots which they are interested in purchasing. Bidders who bid by telephone, either personally or through an agent, or through our live auction software receive a similar benefit as Floor Bidders in being able to actively participate in the live Auction Sale ("Telephone Bidders" and "Live Internet Bidders"). Except as otherwise expressly provided in these Terms of Sale, NO PURCHASED ITEMS MAY BE RETURNED FOR ANY REASON. All prospective Bidders who examine the lot(s) prior to the Auction Sale personally assume all responsibility for any damage that Bidder causes to the lot(s). Stack's Bowers shall have sole discretion in determining the value of the damage caused, which shall be promptly paid by such Bidder.

Certain auctions or auction sessions, will be conducted exclusively over the Internet, and bids will be accepted only from pre-registered Bidders.

STACK'S BOWERS IS NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR ANY ERRORS IN BIDDING. All Bidders should make certain to bid on the correct lot and that the bid is the bid intended. Once the hammer has fallen and the Auctioneer has announced the Buyer, the Buyer is unconditionally bound to pay for the lot, even if the Buyer made a mistake. Stack's Bowers reserves the right to withdraw any lot at any time, even after the hammer has fallen, until the Buyer has taken physical possession of the lot. No participant in the Auction Sale shall have a right to claim any damages, including consequential damages if a lot is withdrawn, even if the withdrawal occurs after the Auction Sale.

4. Bidder Registration Required. All persons seeking to bid must complete and sign a registration card either at the auction or online, or otherwise qualify to bid, as determined in the sole discretion of the Auctioneer. By submitting a bid, the Bidder acknowledges that Bidder has read the Terms and Conditions of Auction Sale, the descriptions for the lot(s) on which they have bid, and that they agree to be bound by these Terms of Sale. This agreement shall be deemed to have been made and entered in California. The Bidder acknowledges that the invoice describing a lot by number incorporates the catalog and Terms of Sale. Person appearing on the OFAC list are not eligible to bid.

5. Buyer's Premiums. A premium of twenty percent (20%) based upon the total amount of the hammer (minimum of $20), will be added to all purchases of individual lots, regardless of affiliation with any group or organization (the "Buyer's Premium"). A reacquisition charge may apply to Consignors pursuant to a separate agreement, which may be higher or lower than the Buyer's Premium.

6. Payment. Payment is due immediately upon the fall of the auctioneer's hammer. Payment is delinquent and in default if not received in full, in good funds, within fourteen (14) calendar days of the Auction Sale (the "Default Date"), without exception, time being of the essence. Unless otherwise agreed in writing prior to the Auction Sale, all auction sales are payable strictly in U.S. Dollars, Hong Kong Dollars or Chinese Renminbi. All invoices will be made in United States Dollars. If paying in Hong Kong Dollars or Chinese Renminbi, Buyer's invoices will be credited with the amount of U.S. Dollars received from Auctioneer's bank. Payments may be made by credit card, Paypal, Union Pay, check, wire transfer, money order and cashier's check. Cash transactions will be accepted in the sole discretion of Stack's Bowers, and if accepted, for any cash transaction or series of transactions exceeding $10,000, a Treasury Form 8300 will be filed. Contact Stack's Bowers for wiring instructions before sending a wire. Bank wires sent from a foreign bank are subject to an international bank wire fee of $35. We accept payment by Visa, MasterCard, American Express, Discover or Paypal for invoices up to $2,500, with a maximum of $10,000 in any 30 day period. All payments are subject to a clearing period. Checks drawn on U.S. banks will be subject to up to a 10 business day hold, and checks drawn on foreign banks will be subject to a 30 day hold. Stack's Bowers reserves the right not to release lots for which good funds have not yet been received. On any past due accounts, Stack's Bowers reserves the right, without notice, to extend credit and impose carrying charges (as described below).

Buyers agree to pay reasonable attorney's fees and cost incurred to collect past due accounts. Any invoice not paid by the Default Date will bear a five percent (5%) late fee on the invoice amount. Buyers personally and unconditionally guarantee payment in full of all amounts owed to Stack's Bowers. Any person submitting bids on behalf of a corporation or other entity, by making such bid, agrees to be personally jointly and severally liable for the payment of the purchase price and any related charges and the performance of all Buyer obligations under these Terms of Sale and Stack's Bowers reserves the right to require a written guarantee of such payments and obligations. Bidders who have not established credit with Stack's Bowers must furnish satisfactory information and credit references and/or deposit at least twenty-five percent (25%) of their total bids for that Auction Sale session(s) or such other amount as Stack's Bowers may, in its sole and absolute discretion require before any bids from such Bidder will be accepted. Deposits submitted will be applied to purchases. Any remaining deposits will be promptly refunded, upon clearance of funds.

7. Sales Tax. Buyers will be charged all applicable sales tax, including Buyers who pick up at this Auction or shipments to Buyers in California and New York without a valid Resale Certificate which has been provided to the Auctioneer prior to the auction. Please note that the purchase of any coin or bullion lot(s) with a price, including the Buyer's Premium, in excess of: (i) One Thousand Dollars ($1,000), for auctions held in Maryland, are exempt from Maryland sales tax, and (ii) One Thousand Five Hundred Dollars ($1,500) are exempt from California sales tax. These exemptions do not apply purchases of currency. Purchases of coins and currency are exempt from sales tax in Illinois. Purchases of Investment Coins are exempt from sales tax in Pennsylvania, but non-coin collectibles including but not limited to currency, medals and tokens, purchased at auctions held in Pennsylvania are subject to Pennsylvania and local sales tax. Please note, this is not, and is not intended to be, a complete description of applicable sales tax laws in all jurisdictions. In the event any applicable sales tax is not paid by Buyer that should have been paid, even if not such tax was not collected by Stack's Bowers by mistake, error, negligence or gross negligence, Buyer nonetheless remains fully liable for and agrees to promptly pay such taxes on demand, together with any interest or penalty that may be assessed by the taxing authority.

8. Financial Responsibility. In the event any applicable conditions of these Terms of Sale herein are not complied with by a Buyer or if the Buyer fails to make payment in full by the Default Date, Stack's Bowers reserves the right, in its sole discretion, in addition to all other remedies which it may have at law or in equity to rescind the sale of that lot or any other lot or lots sold to the defaulting Buyer, retaining all payments made by Buyer as liquidated damages, it being recognized that actual damages may be speculative or difficult to compute, and resell a portion or all of the lots held by Stack's Bowers, in a commercially reasonable manner, which may include a public or private sale, in a quantity sufficient in the opinion of Stack's Bowers to satisfy the indebtedness, plus all accrued charges, and Stack's Bowers may charge a seller's commission that is commercially reasonable. More than one such sale may take place at the option of Stack's Bowers. If Stack's Bowers resells the lots, Buyer agrees to pay for the reasonable cost of such sale, together with any incidental costs of sale, including reasonable attorney's fees and costs, cataloging and any other reasonable charges. Notice of the sale shall be by U.S.P.S. Certified Mail, Return Receipt Requested to the address utilized on the Bid Sheet, Auction Consignment and Security Agreement or other last known address by Stack's Bowers. The proceeds shall be applied first to the satisfaction of any damages occasioned by Buyer's breach, then to any other indebtedness owed to Stack's Bowers, including without limitation, commissions, handling charges, carrying charges, the expenses of both sales, seller's fees, reasonable attorneys' fees, costs, collection agency fees and costs and any other costs or expenses incurred. Buyer shall also be liable to Stack's Bowers for any deficiency if the proceeds of such sale or sales are insufficient to cover such amounts.

Buyer grants to Stack's Bowers, its affiliates and assignees, the right to offset any sums due, or found to be due to Stack's Bowers, and to make such offset from any past, current, or future consignment, or purchases that are in the possession or control of Stack's Bowers; or from any sums due to Buyer by Stack's Bowers, its affiliates and assignees. In addition, defaulting Buyers will be deemed to have granted to Stack's Bowers, its affiliates and assignees, a security interest in: (x) the purchased lots and their proceeds, and (y) such sums or other items and their proceeds, in the possession of Stack's Bowers, its affiliates or assignees, to secure all indebtedness due to Stack's Bowers and its affiliated companies, plus all accrued expenses, carrying charges, seller's fees, attorney fees, and costs, until the indebtedness is paid in full. Buyer grants Stack's Bowers the right to file a UCC-1 financing statement for such items, and to assign such interest to any affiliated or related company or any third party deemed appropriate by Stack's Bowers. If the auction invoice is not paid for in full by the Default Date, a carrying charge of one-and-one-half percent (1-1/2%) per month may be imposed on the unpaid amount until it is paid in full. In the event this interest rate exceeds the interest permitted by law, the same shall be adjusted to the maximum rate permitted by law, and any amount paid in excess thereof shall be allocated to principal. Buyer agrees to pay all reasonable attorney's fees, court costs and other collection costs incurred by Stack's Bowers or any affiliated or related company to collect past due invoices or to interpret or enforce the terms hereof or in any action or proceeding arising out of or related to the Auction Sale. Stack's Bowers reserves the right to assign its interest to any third party. To the extent that the Buyer for any lot consists of more than one person or entity, each such person or entity is jointly and severally liable for all obligations of the Buyer, regardless of the title or capacity of such person or entity. Stack's Bowers shall have all the rights of a secured creditor under Article 9 of the California Commercial Code and all rights of the consignor to collect amounts due from the Buyer, whether at law or equity.

9. Shipping. It is the Buyer's responsibility to contact Stack's Bowers after the sale to make shipping and packaging arrangements. Due to the fragile nature of some lots, Stack's Bowers may elect not to assume responsibility for shipping or packing, or may charge additional shipping and handling. Lots indicated as being "framed" or that are specifically identified in the catalog are shipped at Buyer's risk. All taxes, postage, shipping, if applicable, handling, insurance costs, the Buyer's Premium, and any other fees required by law to be charged or collected will be added to the invoice for any lots invoiced to Buyer. All lots shipped to foreign countries will be billed an additional one-half percent (1/2%) for insurance (minimum of $10). For any lots delivered outside the United States, the declaration value shall be the item(s) hammer price plus its buyer's premium. Auctioneer shall not be liable for any loss caused or resulting from seizure or destruction under quarantine or customs regulation or confiscation by order of any government or public authority. All lots will be shipped FOB Destination, freight prepaid and charged back. Title and risk of loss pass to the Buyer at the destination upon tender of delivery. Acceptance of delivery constitutes acceptance of the purchased lots. Inspection of the purchased lots is not required for acceptance. Any and all claims based upon Buyer's failure to receive a purchased lot, Buyer's receipt of a lot in damaged condition, or otherwise related to delivery, must be received in writing by Stack's Bowers no later than the earlier of thirty (30) days after payment, or the date of the Auction Sale (the "Outside Claim Date"). As Buyers may not receive notification of shipment, it is Buyer's responsibility to keep track of the Outside Claim Date and make timely notification of any such claim. The failure to make a timely claim, time being of the essence, shall constitute a waiver of any such claim. Orders paid by credit card will only be shipped to the verified address on file with the credit card merchant.

10. DISCLAIMER AND WARRANTIES. NO WARRANTY OF MERCHANTABILITY OR FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE IS MADE OR IMPLIED ON ANY LOT. NO WARRANTY, WHETHER EXPRESSED OR IMPLIED, IS MADE WITH RESPECT TO ANY LOT EXCEPT FOR WARRANTY OF TITLE, AND IN THE CASE OF TITLE, AUCTIONEER IS SELLING ONLY THAT RIGHT OR TITLE TO THE LOT THAT THE CONSIGNOR MAY HAVE AS OF THE AUCTION SALE DATE. ALL LOTS ARE SOLD "AS IS" AND WITH ALL FAULTS. PURCHASER HEREBY ASSUMES ALL RISKS CONCERNING AND RELATED TO THE GRADING, QUALITY, DESCRIPTION, CONDITION, AUTHENTICITY, AND PROVENANCE OF A LOT.

a. COINS AND CURRENCY LISTED IN THIS CATALOG GRADED BY PCGS, NGC, ANACS, ICG, PCGS CURRENCY, PMG, PCGS BANKNOTE GRADING, CMC OR ANY OTHER THIRD PARTY GRADING SERVICE OR EXAMINED BY THE BUYER PRIOR TO THE AUCTION SALE MAY NOT BE RETURNED FOR ANY REASON WHATSOEVER BY ANY BUYER, EXCEPT FOR CLAIMS RELATED TO AUTHENTICITY.

b. For non-certified coins and currency that have not been examined by the Buyer prior to the Auction Sale: if it is determined in a review by Stack's Bowers that there is a material error in the catalog description of a non-certified coin or currency or the coin or currency is not authentic, such lot may be returned, provided written notice is received by Stack's Bowers no later than seventy-two (72) hours of delivery of the lots in question, and such lots are returned and received by Stack's Bowers, in their original, sealed containers, no later than fourteen (14) calendar days after delivery, in the same condition the lot(s) were delivered to the Buyer, time being of the essence.

c. If an item or items are returned pursuant to the terms herein, they must be housed in their original, sealed and unopened container.

d. Late remittance or removal of any item from its original container, or altering a coin constitutes just cause for revocation of all return privileges.

e. Grading or condition of rare coins and currency may have a material effect on the value of the item(s) purchased, and the opinion of others (including independent grading services) may differ with the independent grading services opinion or interpretation of Stack's Bowers. Stack's Bowers shall not be bound by any prior, or subsequent opinion, determination or certification by any independent grading service.

f. Questions regarding the minting of a coin as a "proof" or as a "business strike" relate to the method of manufacture and not to authenticity.

g. All oral and written statements made by Stack's Bowers and its employees or agents (including affiliated and related companies) are statements of opinion only, and are not warranties or representations of any kind, unless stated as a specific written warranty, and no employee or agent of Stack's Bowers has authority to vary or alter these Terms and Conditions of Auction Sale. Stack's Bowers reserves the right to vary or alter the Terms of Sale, either generally or with respect to specific persons or circumstances, in its sole discretion. Any variation or alteration shall be effective only if in writing and signed by an officer of Stack's Bowers authorized to do so.

h. Stack's Bowers is acting as an auctioneer. Title to the lots purchased passes directly from the Consignor to the Buyer. Accordingly, Stack's Bowers is not making, and disclaims, any warranty of title.

i. Bidders shall have no recourse against the Consignor for any reason whatsoever.

j. Bidder acknowledges that the numismatic market is speculative, unregulated and volatile, and that coin prices may rise or fall over time. Stack's Bowers does not guarantee or represent that any customer buying for investment purposes will be able to sell for a profit in the future.

k. Bidder acknowledges and agrees that neither Stack's Bowers, nor its employees, affiliates, agents, third-party providers or consignors warrant that auctions will be unimpaired, uninterrupted or error free and accordingly shall not be liable for such events.

11. Waiver and Release. Bidder, for himself, his heirs, agents, successors and assignees, generally and specifically waives and releases, and forever discharges Stack's Bowers, and its respective affiliates, parents, officers, directors, shareholders, agents, subsidiaries, employees, managers and members and each of them, and their respective successors and assignees from any and all claims, rights, demands and causes of actions and suits, of whatever kind or nature, including but not limited to claims based upon Auctioneer's negligence, whether in law or equity, tort or otherwise, whether known or unknown, suspected or unsuspected (a "Claim"), which Bidder may assert with respect to and/or arising out of, or in connection with any challenge to the title to or authenticity of any goods purchased, the sale itself, any lot bid upon or consigned, and/or the auction, except where such Claim is otherwise expressly authorized in these Terms of Sale. It is the intention of Bidder that this waiver and release shall be effective as a bar to each and every Claim that may arise hereunder or be related to the Auction Sale, and Bidder hereby knowingly and voluntarily waives any and all rights and benefits otherwise conferred upon him by the provisions of Section 1542 of the California Civil Code, which reads in full as follows:

"A GENERAL RELEASE DOES NOT EXTEND TO CLAIMS WHICH THE CREDITOR DOES NOT KNOW OR SUSPECT TO EXIST IN HIS OR HER FAVOR AT THE TIME OF EXECUTING THE RELEASE, WHICH IF KNOWN BY HIM OR HER MUST HAVE MATERIALLY AFFECTED HIS OR HER SETTLEMENT WITH THE DEBTOR."

12. Disputes. If a dispute arises concerning ownership of a lot or concerning proceeds of any sale, Stack's Bowers reserves the right to commence a statutory inter-pleader proceeding at the expense of the Consignor and Buyer and any other applicable party, and in such event shall be entitled to its reasonable attorneys' fees and costs. Stack's Bowers reserves the right to cancel or postpone the Auction Sale or any session thereof for any reason whatsoever. No Bidder shall have any claim as a result thereof, including for incidental or consequential damages. Neither Stack's Bowers nor any affiliated or related company shall be responsible for incidental or consequential damages arising out of any failure of the Terms of Sale, the auction or the conduct thereof and in no event shall such liability exceed the purchase price, premium, or fees paid. Rights granted to Bidders under the within Terms and Conditions of Auction Sale are personal and apply only to the Bidder who initially purchases the lot(s) from Stack's Bowers. The rights may not be assigned or transferred to any other person or entity, whether by sale of the lot(s), operation of law or otherwise. Any attempt to assign or transfer any such rights shall be absolutely void and unenforceable. No third party may rely on any benefit or right conferred by these Terms and Conditions of Auction Sale.

Any dispute arising out of or related to these Terms of Sale, the Auction Sale or any lot, with the sole exception of actions by Stack's Bowers to collect amounts owed to it and other damages, shall be submitted to binding arbitration pursuant to the commercial arbitration rules of the American Arbitration Association, with any arbitration hearing to occur in Orange County, California. Absent an agreement of the parties, the arbitrator shall limit discovery to that which is necessary to enable the hearing to proceed efficiently. The arbitrator shall not have the power to award punitive or consequential damages, nor alter, amend modify any of the terms of this Agreement. The award by the arbitrator, if any, may be entered in any court having jurisdiction thereof. Each party shall pay one-half the costs of the arbitration. Bidder acknowledges and agrees that the competent courts of the State of California shall have exclusive in personam jurisdiction, subject to the requirement to arbitrate, over any dispute(s) arising hereunder, regardless of any party's current or future residence or domicile. Bidder further agrees that venue of the arbitration proceeding shall be in Orange County, California; and any court proceeding shall be in the Orange County Superior Court, in the State of California, and in each case waive any claim of Forum Non Conveniens. Bidder agrees that any arbitration or legal action with respect to this Auction Sale is barred unless commenced within one (1) year of the date of this Auction Sale. AUCTION PARTICIPANTS EXPRESSLY WAIVE ANY RIGHT TO TRIAL BY JURY.

13. General Terms. These Terms and Conditions of Auction Sale and the auction shall be construed and enforced in accordance with, and governed by, the laws of the State of California, regardless of the location of the Auction Sale. These Terms of Sale and the information on the Stack's Bowers' website constitute the entire agreement between the parties hereto on the subject matter hereof and supersede all other agreements, understandings, warranties and representations concerning the subject matter hereof. If any section of these Terms of Auction Sale or any term or provision of any section is held to be invalid, void, or unenforceable by any court of competent jurisdiction, the remaining sections or terms and provisions of a section shall continue in full force and effect without being impaired or invalidated in any way. Stack's Bowers may at its sole and absolute discretion, make loans or advances to Consignors and/or Bidders.

14. Chinese Translation. The Chinese translations are provided as a matter of convenience. In the event of a conflict, all English Terms and Conditions and lot descriptions take precedence and are binding.

Bidding in this auction sale constitutes unconditional acceptance by the Bidder of the foregoing terms of sale.

Please note: Transparent holders in which the auction lots are stored are to facilitate viewing and inspection of the lots and ARE NOT for long-term storage.

PCGS and NGC numbers provided are for bidder convenience only, we do not guarantee their accuracy. An incorrect PCGS or NGC number is not grounds to return a lot.
